FLOODS IN JAMAICA TAKE HEAVY TOLL OF LIFE AND PROPERTY

Tremendous Downpour Brings Destruction to Towns and Farms Already Stricken by Storm And Flood—Washing Out of Bridges Will Disrupt Rail Communication for Weeks

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Nov. 24 (P).—This flood-swept British West Indies island tonight counted a death toll that might reach seventy or more and unestimated property damage as residents of Kingston awaited news from districts isolated by raging waters.

One brief message came through from Portland, on the west coast of the island, stating a swift river torrent had raced through the town, drowning fifty inhabitants. The message was not officially confirmed.

Known death toll in the Montego Bay district on the north side of the island has already reached nineteen, with possibilities of further deaths being reported when communications are working normally.

DESTRUCTIVE DOWNPOUR
A tremendous downpour in the Portland area yesterday brought added destruction to towns and farms already submerged after a series of storms and heavy rains. Mountain torrents rushing down from the interior swelled over their banks, causing extensive damage to private property. Roads and railways were washed out and bridges swept away.

The last railway pier at Port Antonio was washed away tonight. Three railway bridges fell prey to the flood-waters, and railway officials said there would be no through trains "for weeks."

SEARCH WIDENS FOR PLOTTERS

Retired Officers of French National Defence Force Under Suspicion

PARIS, Nov. 24 (P).—The Government's search for plotters against the republic today reached the retired officers of the National Defence Force.

While retired Naval Commander Joseph le Marequier and Sergeant Aviator Cheron were held for questioning, Surete Nationale inspectors searched the home of retired Aviation General Desnoes. They took the general to headquarters for examination.

He previously had been questioned concerning activities of Les Cagouards—"the Hooded Ones"—under investigation since mid-September and now believed by authorities linked with the disintegration of the Surete did not disclose results of the search of the general's apartment.

The Government ordered the Surete to use all resources to crush the secret, revolutionary group which Interior Minister Marx Dormoy announced last night had plotted to turn France into a dictatorship under a king.

All Government police units co-operated in the nation-wide search for arms caches of the organization and to determine who were the leaders and where the money came from to buy large supplies of arms.

Fear Loss if Preferences Are Removed

VANCOUVER, Nov. 24 (P).—The Vancouver Board of Trade at its fifty-fifth annual luncheon meeting today passed a resolution declaring that any change in treaties governing the present preferential market enjoyed in Great Britain by British Columbia might result in a serious loss to the Pacific Coast Province.

The resolution stated that "Strong representations should be made to the Federal and Provincial Governments of the serious economic loss that British Columbia would sustain by any interference in the preferences which we now enjoy in the British market for our lumber and other products."

Charges Roosevelt Endangers Peace by His Economic Policy

Member of British Commons Declares Every Sound Business Principle Violated—Sees Ruin Ahead for American Trade If Continued

LONDON, Nov. 24 (P).—Robert J. Boothby, Conservative, tonight charged in the House of Commons that President Roosevelt started market declines, thereby endangering peace. Boothby said it was time someone did "some plain speaking on this side of the Atlantic."

"What is the use of making a trade agreement or attempting to co-operate with a Government which seems determined to sabotage the economic system under which we live without any alternative system put in its place?" he asked.

"In the Spring of this year the President of the United States of America suddenly announced that in his opinion commodity prices were too high, although actually they were lower than the level of 1926, which hitherto had been his declared objective."

"He followed this by doing everything in his power to discourage investments in capital industries of the United States."

"Confidence, which is so much easier to undermine than to inspire, Continued on Page 2, Column 2

TELLS HOUSE OF PLAN TO EXTEND TO ARCTIC

Creation of a British Columbia Coal and Petroleum Control Board by legislation at this session, coupled with the assurance that appropriate action would be taken on the Macdonald report without unnecessary delay was announced in the Legislature yesterday by Premier Pattullo in closing the budget debate. A labor relations bill and a forest conservation measure were also promised.

Elsewhere in a fighting speech of an hour and a half, Premier Pattullo announced it was the aim of his Government to take over the Yukon, and extend the borders of British Columbia eastward to the 130 meridian, and north to the Arctic Circle; to bring about construction of the Alaska-Yukon-British Columbia Highway; to link the Pacific Great Eastern Railway with both trans-Canada railways; to secure transportation facilities for the Peace River Block, within the life of the Nineteenth Legislature.

Duplessis Says Province Wants More Details of Unemployment Insurance Proposals—States Enabling Legislation Would Be Sufficient

QUEBEC, Nov. 24 (P).—The Quebec Government is "willing to co-operate heartily in the establishment of a sound and fair system of unemployment insurance," but at the same time will safeguard Quebec province's "full autonomy," Premier Maurice Duplessis said in a letter delivered in Ottawa today in reply to a communication from Prime Minister King.

Prime Minister King communicated with all Provincial Premiers on November 5 seeking their views on a Federal Government proposal to set up national unemployment insurance. The Prime Minister asked the Provincial Governments whether they would agree to amendment of the British North America Act to empower Ottawa authorities to establish the national machinery.

WANTS MORE DETAILS
Premier Duplessis' letter, stating the Quebec Government considered "absolutely essential" information as to the "broad lines" and "important details" of the unemployment insurance project, went for Continued on Page 6, Column 2

French Premier Visiting London For Conferences

British Government's Invitation Accepted by Chautemps and Foreign Minister Delbos—Will Discuss International Situation Next Week—No Commitments Made to Germany

Talks With German Leaders Confidential, Premier States

LONDON, Nov. 24 (P).—British and French diplomats will confer here Monday and Tuesday on the international situation. Prime Minister Chamberlain announced today Premier Chautemps and Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos had accepted an invitation from the British Government.

It was learned terms of the invitation refer only to "conversations on the international situation." French circles predicted the talks will cover not only the meeting recently between Chancellor Hitler and Lord Halifax, in Germany, but also the situation in the Far East and the problems of non-intervention and the Spanish Civil War.

NO COMMITMENTS
Mr. Chamberlain informed the House of Commons no commitments were made to Germany during Lord Halifax's visit and that none would be made without full opportunity for the House of Commons to discuss them.

The invitation to the French statesmen to come to London was regarded as fresh evidence that Mr. Chamberlain favors informal discussion to "public declaration"—as he stated himself in a speech earlier this month.

It is considered in diplomatic quarters an indication that Great Britain again is taking a leading role in European policies.

The forthcoming visit follows closely the Hitler-Halifax talks, for which the British Government took the initiative.

Three Die In Wreck Of Train

FRESNO, Calif., Nov. 24 (P).—The death toll in the derailment of a southbound Southern Pacific freight train near Kerman last night was placed today at three when a final search of the wreckage failed to disclose the bodies of two additional victims, first believed to have been crushed beneath the twisted mass of steel and wooden cars. The train was derailed when an arch bar buckled under the head oil tank.

Seven other men and boys who were riding on the train were injured, and physicians said some of them may die.

Attended by Dr. Walter Bapty, Rose was found to be suffering from a possible skull fracture. His right eyeball was also gouged out. West received a broken jaw, and was cared for by Dr. Gordon Kenning. The injured men were conveyed to the Jubilee Hospital by George Sands and William Broadhurst.

NO SOLUTION TO CONFLICT

Brussels Conference Adjourns Without Bringing End to War in Orient

BRUSSELS, Nov. 24 (P).—Efforts of the Brussels Conference to end the Chinese-Japanese conflict were thrown back tonight to direct exchange of the world's capitals.

The conference adjourned indefinitely after adopting a declaration condemning the use of armed force in disputes between nations and strongly urged hostilities between Japan and China be suspended.

Only Italy of the nineteen nations represented voted against the declaration.

ADJOURNS INDEFINITELY
Arrangements were made for recall of the conference whenever its chairman or two members "have reported that they consider that its deliberations can be advantageously resumed."

The participating governments, the declaration said, meanwhile would have time "to exchange views and further explore all peaceful methods by which just settlement of the dispute may be attained."

Thus ended what was called the "first phase" of a three-week quest for a solution for the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

PROBLEM NOT DROPPED
Norman H. Davis, head of the United States delegation, stressed in a key speech at the closing session the importance of continuing "earnestly and actively" the search for a peaceful settlement of the conflict. He said he was going home for that purpose to consult his government.

Davis declared suspension of the conference sessions did not "in any sense signify that the problem we have been considering is to be dropped or that our interest in its solution is to be in any way lessened."

Bonneville Salt Flats Reserved for Two English and Two American Speed Frenzies

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 24 (P).—An unnamed automobile racer who will drive a new type of car will invade Bonneville salt flats next year in an attempt to shatter all existing distance records, Bonneville association officials said today.

The saline race course, 130 miles west of here, has been reserved by the United States racer for next August, Gus P. Backman, of the association, said in announcing four drivers—two Americans and two Englishmen—would assault records on the flats next summer.

It was believed the speedster is Louis Meyer, winner of the Indianapolis 500 in 1928, 1933 and 1936. The three other drivers reserving the salt flats are Capt. George E. T. Eyston and John Cobb, both of England, and Jenkins.

Health Insurance Is to Stand Over Hon. Dr. Weir Says

Negotiations Proceeding, With Hope for Amicable Settlement, Provincial Secretary Tells B.C. Legislature, in Fighting Defence of Policy

NO action will be taken on state health insurance at this session, Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir announced in the British Columbia Legislature yesterday, stating, however, that he was hopeful of reaching agreement on a scheme later which could be implemented with benefit to all concerned. The Provincial Secretary spoke on the budget debate at the afternoon sitting, followed by Howard Forester (Lib., Burrard) and E. V. Finland (Cons., Esquimalt).

Mr. Forester urged special aid to make whatever contribution I can to bring about a policy of state health insurance in the best interests of the people," Dr. Weir concluded, on this phase of his address. At no point in his fighting address did he directly refer to the Government, or to its present decision on the issue.

HEALTH SERVICES—Elsewhere in his remarks, Dr. Weir defended increased expenditures on behalf of health and welfare services, education, mental institutions and in other branches under his dual departments. Prevention of disease was a practical economy and education could not be postponed, like road development. True liberalism, said Dr. Weir, repeated the words, could only take one course on these issues, and that was to go ahead.

Health expenses were now costing the Province $3,250,000 a year, and this sum would be $7,000,000 in ten years' time, unless steps were taken to deal in prevention rather than cure. There would be no future for posterity unless private and state was dealt with in the present, Dr. Weir concluded.

E. V. FINLAND—Mr. Finland, in a thoughtful address, said the Province was on the wrong course in trying to control and direct industry, marketing, and use of natural resources. If private industry were encouraged, it would expand, and furnish all the employment and opportunity needed for the wise development of the Province. What was needed from government was leadership, not dictation.

Mining investigations and attendant scandals had driven investment from the Province, after successive inquiries into Wagnie, Nicola and Hedley. Amalgamated enterprises. There had been laxity in the Mines Department, and no special acumen shown in dealing with these matters.

In agriculture, dragooning and disciplining had taken place. Marketing legislation, which had failed everywhere attempted in the world. Coercion was not a substitute for freedom, and would not work. It would be found cheaper for the Province to put up plants to process surpluses, than to attempt to coerce minorities.

Research in timber utilization and forest by-products would repay attention, and sufficient funds to bring about adequate investigation along this line should be voted for the British Columbia Forest Service. There was much overlapping in federal and provincial services, and the Government should consider doing away with its Department of Agriculture entirely. The Dominion Government was opposed to market control, and such attempts should be now abandoned by the Province, Mr. Finland concluded.

J. H. FORESTER—Mr. Forester, as senior member for Burrard, pleaded Vancouver's case before the Legislature, stating the Mainland city could not long wait for a more permanent settlement of its relations with the Province. He urged that the realty tax, which now supplied 86 per cent of Vancouver's revenues, be replaced by some means which would permit the financing of non-realty service from income tax collections.

Property should not have to bear the cost of social services, education and hospitalization as it was now doing. The income tax was the fairest principle in levying, falling equally upon all according to their means.

Vancouver in 1936 had had a budget of $13,500,000, of which $325,000 was for social services, $2,775,000 for schools, and $722,000 for hospitals. Municipal aid given at the last session had been appreciated, but was not sufficient. In closing, Mr. Forester appealed for work on the Loughheed Highway, and for eventual linking up of the Coast city with Garibaldi Park.

was absolutely shattered and this has led inevitably to acute deflation—deflation which involved a catastrophe—fall, not only in stock markets but in commodity prices and the industrial output.

DANGER INCREASED—"As a result of that, at a very critical moment, the underlying strength of democratic countries has been greatly diminished and the danger of war sensibly increased," said Boothby, thirty-seven-year-old former Parliamentary Secretary to Winston Churchill and now partner in a stock-broking firm. He sits for an Aberdeen County constituency.

He declared that if Mr. Roosevelt continued his policy "which, by discouraging investments, restricting the freedom of markets and deflating prices, violates every sound economic principle, there will be no trade to agree upon in a trade agreement."

FORTUNES ARE LINKED—Boothby added that "whether we like it or not," Great Britain's economic fortunes are tied to those of the United States.

Mr. Boothby, who has served in Parliament since 1924, is a member of the firm of Chase, Henderson & Tennant. It was understood the concern has close connections with one of the larger Wall Street firms. Boothby's wife is the daughter of Lord Richard Cavendish.

R. W. Mayhew to Speak Twice at Meetings Today

NEW QUARTERS ARE SUGGESTED

Provincial Council of Women Submit Resolutions to Government

Construction of a new women's building at Oakalla, for female prisoners; removal of youths from that prison to separate premises at the former Home for the Friendless; an adequate policy of reformation and conservation; protection for the cascara tree, now killed for its bark; and other resolutions, were presented yesterday to the Government by a delegation from the Provincial Council of Women, introduced by Mrs. Paul Smith, M.P.P.

The delegation saw the Cabinet in the morning, including in its numbers Mrs. F. J. Rolston, Mrs. A. C. Bagley, Mrs. Ross, Dr. Olga Jardine, the president and officials of branches at Vancouver, Victoria, and other centres to the number of twenty.

Consideration was pledged by the Government, in replies made by Premier Pattullo.

KNOCKED DOWN IN MOTOR COLLISION

While crossing Oak Bay Avenue at Morrison Street at 5 o'clock last evening, Miss Bertha Rigby, 1647 Hampshire Road, was in collision with an automobile driven by James Eddie, 1018 Amphion Street. She was rendered unconscious when knocked to the pavement. Constables P. W. Richards, Benjamin Acreman and Wally Andrews rushed Miss Rigby to the Royal Jubilee Hospital in the police patrol. Dr. E. C. Hart found her to be suffering from bruises and concussion.

QUEBEC POLICE RAID OFFICES

Newspapers and Documents Seized in Montreal Under Padlock Law

MONTREAL, Nov. 24 (P)—Quebec Provincial Police raided the Montreal office of the Toronto daily newspaper, Clarion, today and seized 700 copies of the paper along with other publications and documents. In the Park Avenue office, police seized two weeks ago, few copies of the Montreal French weekly, Clarke (Light), whose office and printing plant were locked up a fortnight ago under Quebec's "padlock" law aimed at stamping out Communist propaganda.

The Clarion's local office is located at the rear of the Modern Book Shop, and the early evening raid was the second time Provincial Police had descended on the bookshop since Premier Maurice Duplessis ordered enforcement of his padlock law two weeks ago. In the first raid, the Attorney-General's Department officers seized books and pamphlets.

PROVIDES FOR SEIZURE—It was the seventh Montreal raid since the Premier, as Attorney-General, began clamping down with the padlock law which his Union Nationale Government passed at the last session of the Legislature. The law provides for seizure of suspected Communist literature and padlocking of places where it is prepared or distributed, as well as lacking of Communist gathering places.

Penalties are provided for infractions of the enactment, but so far there have been no arrests.

WILL EXTEND MORATORIUM

Legislature Presses On With Light Programme of Public Bills

British Columbia's moratorium law will be extended for a year, unchanged, but this will not effect contracts entered after the existing limit in 1937, Premier Pattullo indicated at his offices yesterday. In the Legislature the Government pressed on with a small supply of minor bills, taking some measures through third reading and others to committee stages.

Three new bills were introduced by message from the Crown. These were amendments to the Grasshopper Control Act, to remove all restrictions on loans to grasshopper control areas, and unexplained amendments to both the Municipal Act and the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act.

SHORTEN DEBATES—The Government moved to free the order paper of a half dozen C.C.F. motions on the grounds these effected Crown revenues and could not be introduced from the Opposition side. Mr. Speaker Whittaker reserved decisions in most instances.

The C.C.F. explained no obstruction had been intended but they had wished to discuss these issues, dealing with silos, mental diseases, liquor advertising and other matters. A move by the C.C.F. to open company towns was adjourned in debate from the Government side.

Postponement of interest and sinking fund payments for Sumas and other dyking areas passed third readings, unopposed. Rearrangement of voting privileges in the Duncan and North Cowichan Consolidated School District was enacted, subject to final assent. For the rest the legislation was as already outlined.

Musical Arts Hosts To Honorary Patrons At Novel Programme

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber Guests of Honor at Concert at Empress Hotel—Reception Afterwards

A REFRESHING departure from its customary serious art-type of programme was given by the Victoria Musical Arts Society last evening at the Empress Hotel, when the executive and members entertained the honorary patrons, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber, as special guests of the occasion.

The affair took the form of a reception with musical programme. The latter, cast in much lighter vein than usual, had a liberal dash of Gilbert and Sullivan and other opera-bouffe selections, notwithstanding that it was carried out in an infectious spirit of buoyant fun, showed very high artistic merit. Its popularity was attested in the spontaneous and whole-hearted applause that greeted each number.

STRICTLY MEMBERS

It was a strictly members' night, no others being admitted. About 350 attended the concert, and of these about 200 remained for the reception and supper that followed in the palm-rooms. Everyone was given an opportunity to be presented to His Honor and Mrs. Hamber, who with Mrs. Peebles, Mr. J. O. Cameron, and Alderman and Mrs. S. H. O'Neil (the former representing Mayor Andrew McGavin) stood just outside the ballroom door at the conclusion of the concert.

THE PROGRAMME

An element of surprise gave the key to the spirit of the evening, the audience receiving mock-programmes advertising "All-Star Programme," only to discover that the names thereon gave not the slightest clue to the real identity of the performers or the numbers to be performed. Mrs. Alison Peebles' dignified introductory comments as president were equally non-committal, insofar as they betrayed what was to follow.

The first numbers were pianoforte compositions brilliantly played by Mrs. C. A. McDermid, who showed both virtuosity and temperance in the "Scherzo" (Cyril Scott), "Harmonica Player" (Guyon), "Bolero de Concert" (Mannazucca), and "Fugue" (Philipp).

Fraser Lister was the master of ceremonies for which followed, and together with his musicians brought inexhaustible elements of comedy and burlesque to the role. The quartette sang sea shanties, Gilbert and Sullivan selections, and things which were a veritable pot-pourri of clever nonsense.

The quartette sang sea shanties, Gilbert and Sullivan selections, and things which were a veritable pot-pourri of clever nonsense.

A comedy symphony, comprising Miss Helen Ockenden at the piano, Leslie Jordan (violinist), Jack Townsend (recording bass), and David Townsend (double bass), played an arrangement of three tunes, harmonized, that evoked much laughter. Fraser Lister sang "Green-Eyed Dragon" and "Sailor Men," and Dudley Wickert, solos were "Garden Where the Plums Grow," "The Egg," and "Trotting to the Fair."

FRENCH PREMIER VISITING ENGLAND

The Cabinet assembled tonight for forty-five minutes after holding a session earlier in the day. In the House of Commons Mr. Chamberlain made a brief statement on the German conversations in response to Labor questions.

He declared the talks Lord Halifax held with Hitler and other German leaders were "confidential" and declined to discuss them beyond stating that "No pledges have been given."

CLOSER UNDERSTANDING

"I am satisfied, however," he said, "that the visit has been valuable in furthering the desire, which I believe to be generally felt in both countries, for the establishment of closer mutual understanding."

Mr. Chamberlain said that, not only had no commitments been made in Germany, but that none would be made without full opportunity for the House of Commons to consider them.

SENTENCED FOR SPYING

METZ, France, Nov. 24 (AP)—A military tribunal today convicted two Germans of espionage and sentenced them to five years each in prison. Authorities said the men were Fritz Reiss, thirty-four, and Paul Linke, fifty-one, both natives of Berlin.

Beware Kidney Germs if Tired, Nervous, Aching

Are you Run Down, Nervous, suffer Aching or Swollen Joints? Do you get Upstays, or suffer from Burning Passages, Frequent Headaches, Loss of Appetite, Dismissed, Puffy Swellings, Loss of Appetite and Energy? If so, the true cause often may be germs developed in the body during colds, or by bad teeth or tonsils that need removing. These germs may attack the delicate membranes of your Kidneys or bladder and often cause much trouble. Ordinary medicines can't help much because they don't fight the germs. The doctor's formula Cystex, now stocked by all druggists, starts fighting Kidney germs in 3 hours and must prove entirely satisfactory in 1 week and be exactly the medicine you need or money back. FUEL CONTROL BOARD TO BE SET UP IN B.C.

public works by the Dominion Government, using the credit of the country, and said British Columbia would be ready to support such a move. He pledged Government aid along projects for its active development. It was the aim of his administration, said the Premier:

"To extend the boundaries of British Columbia, not only to the Yukon, but also the territory east of the Yukon, following the 120th Meridian to the North Pole, which would add 400,000 square miles to British Columbia's present 350,000 square miles."

The Premier said, had supplied Vancouver with $2,000,000 in business last year, and was enjoying a revival of gold dredging.

WILL SET UP BOARD

"It might be well to point out that this Government, realizing the importance of the situation, caused a Royal Commission to be appointed as long ago as October 31, 1934, to make investigation into coal and petroleum. The report of the commission in respect of petroleum products was filed in October, 1936, while that in respect of coal was filed in September of this year. The final report has yet to be submitted."

"It would seem that the Government could hardly be expected to take steps until sufficient information was available upon which to base intelligent and co-ordinated action. In order, however, that there may be no delay in dealing with this important question, it is the intention to submit a measure to this House to provide for the creation of a Coal and Petroleum Control Board, with authority vested in the board as laid down in the Act (to be presented later). The legal department is now busy upon the measure and it will be submitted to this House in a short time (at this session)."

Premier Pattullo rehearsed the history of party Government in British Columbia since the Mc-

Bride administration of 1903, and suggested Conservative administrations had been responsible for $110,741,000 of the debt of $187,000,000 outstanding; and Liberal administrations for $48,017,000 of the debt, excluding relief borrowings of some $28,000,000 all told. He reviewed administration policies in the last four years and claimed pledges of care of the unemployed, work and wages, aid to municipalities and other promises had been kept in so far as the circumstances permitted.

VISIONS THE FUTURE

It was on the future that the Premier rose to heights of fresh eloquence, envisioning an era of development for a British Columbia doubled in area, with transportation, rail links, and mineral activity beyond the expectation of its citizens at present.

Among the aims of the administration he announced a desire "to bring about construction of a highway through British Columbia and the Yukon to provide transportation for territory not now served, and to establish contact by highway between the United States and Alaska."

RELAYS PROJECT COMING

"I believe ways and means can be evolved whereby that work can be done. I will say this, that I can give my assurance that under no circumstances whatever will the United States of America be given control over any Canadian territory. There is no suggestion, either, that the Panhandle of Alaska be turned over to Canada; but I do think that we would be given favorable consideration with respect to the use of a port in Alaska."

Citing an attempt to link the P.C.E. with C.P.R. and C.N.R. rail systems, the Premier added that it was his hope also to see transportation provided for the Peace River district, and saw no obstacles in the way of a Peace River outlet during the lifetime of the present administration.

"TO NORTH POLE"

Referring to proposed annexation of the Yukon, the Premier said it was not to be expected that 4,000 people living in the Yukon could settle its destinies forever. He had been selected by Ottawa as one knowing something of the Yukon, and because it was desired to push along projects for its active development, said the Premier:

"To extend the boundaries of British Columbia, not only to the Yukon, but also the territory east of the Yukon, following the 120th Meridian to the North Pole, which would add 400,000 square miles to British Columbia's present 350,000 square miles."

The Premier said, had supplied Vancouver with $2,000,000 in business last year, and was enjoying a revival of gold dredging.

LABOR RELATIONS

Referring to labor relations, he said it would be the aim of his administration "to improve conditions of labor; to make for better understanding between employers and employees; to provide for more effective and expeditious means of adjustment of differences between employers and employees so that there need be no resort to the strike." The strike, he added, was a form of civil war.

Premier Pattullo said the Government was minded of reforestation and proposed to have surveys between Vancouver Island to determine what areas could be developed for agriculture, after the timber crop had been taken off. He warned against alarm in depletion of its stocks, and said that adequate information on the situation was in hand to meet all eventualities. Control over Crown grant lands was lacking. Legislation would be submitted at this session to place adequate authority in the Province's hands to deal generally with forest problems.

B.C. REQUESTS

British Columbia issues would be advanced before the Rowell Commission at Ottawa, on a general claim for better terms, for compensation in redress of tariff handicaps, for revision of municipal matters, and for reduction of taxation and revenues. The Dominion should withdraw from the income tax field and never should have invaded it, he declared. He renewed advocacy of a large Federal works programme.

The Premier pledged continued aid to the University of British Columbia, and said it would be his aim to make extension of its accommodation and facilities possible when opportunity offered. He touched on other issues, speaking at the top of his debating form, in an address which was received with prolonged desk-thumping.

The House passed at once into supply, and voted $5,808,940 for the public debt.

TWO INJURED WHEN MACHINES COLLIDE

Automobiles driven by Major Glen C. Holland, 355 Armit Street, and Tina Singh, 723 Market Street, were extensively damaged in a collision at Esquimalt Road and Tyee Road at 9:25 o'clock last evening.

Tina received cuts about the head from flying glass. Sada Gara Singh, a companion, sustained a cut left hand. They were treated at the police station by Dr. O. Denton Holmes and taken home in the police patrol.

UNIONISM IS GIVEN PRAISE

R. W. Mayhew, Liberal Candidate, Voices Support of Trade Union Movement

"As an employer of labor, I am certainly in favor of unions," declared R. W. Mayhew, Liberal standard-bearer in the forthcoming by-election, speaking at a meeting held in St. Alban's Parish Hall, last evening.

"My employers attend union meetings," he continued, "and I hope they continue to do so. The only danger in trade unions, as I see it, is the fact that most of the boys let a few of the boys do it all."

While Mr. Mayhew admitted such an attribute was only human, he commented that he would like to see all his men take an interest in trade unionism. "Unions need not feel that they will have any opposition from me if I go to Ottawa," he declared.

The candidate was supported on the platform by Alderman W. T. Strath, M.P.P., and A. H. Corby, a member of the executive of the Twentieth Century Young Liberal Association. Alderman Strath made a concise summary of the achievements of the Liberal party since it had been elected to office, while Mr. Corby gave an entertaining speech on behalf of Mr. Mayhew.

TRADE AGREEMENTS

"There is a challenge for me to do my best at Ottawa on behalf of our young people," declared Mr. Mayhew, following Mr. Corby's address. "Not only that," he continued, "but I should like to go to Ottawa because I find myself in accord with the Government, which thinks there is greater value in men than in money."

Speaking of the contemplated Anglo-American trade agreements, Mr. Mayhew declared that no one could doubt the selfishness of Great Britain in world affairs, or the stand of the Motherland in its constant endeavors to bring peace to a world in turmoil. "On what grounds then, have we to think that the Motherland would enter into a pact that would harm this Dominion?" he asked. He commented, however, that Mr. Bennett would have much to say about the pacts on his arrival here, and would do "a lot of dexterous flag-waving" in that connection.

WILL AID WEST

Mr. Mayhew drew attention to the long experience he had as an exporter, declared he had a wide knowledge of trade, and asserted that he thought he could be of material assistance to the West when the trade agreements came up for discussion.

"I shall be enabled to discuss the matter in caucus. I believe I can do a lot of good on behalf of Victoria and British Columbia. But the only thing the other candidates can do, if elected, is to make a big splash in Hansard after the matter has been practically settled," he commented.

Alderman Strath, in drawing attention to the record of the Liberal administration, pointed out that a balanced budget was in sight next year, and that, thereafter, a surplus would be applied on the national debt could be expected. He declared the Federal Government had embarked on a programme of social security, including old age pensions and unemployment insurance. Thirdly, he commented on social security, and while paying tribute to former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett as "a great Canadian," pointed out that Mr. Bennett believed in high tariffs, while Mr. Mackenzie King placed his faith not in tariffs, but in trade.

AID TO LOCAL MOVIES

He drew attention to the fact that the reduction in tariffs under the Liberal Government had made the continuance of motion picture

A DISAPPEARING RESOURCE

It is almost a quarter of a century since this newspaper commenced its advocacy of forest conservation by suggesting the only progressive plan whereby this can be accomplished, namely, by a policy of reforestation. Each succeeding Provincial Government has been urged to adopt a policy that would look to the future of the resources of the forest and each Government, in rotation, turned a deaf ear to the plea. There used to be a legend extant in official circles that the natural increase was far in advance of all the timber cut, of all the ravages by fire and insect plagues. That legend has been exploded by the process of events. The end of the forest resources of British Columbia is in sight and nothing is being done about it.

The chief forester of British Columbia says that within twenty-five years the supply of the big fir districts accessible to the logger will be wholly depleted. Moreover, the authorities have been warned that 60 per cent of the areas now being logged will remain barren unless reforestation is applied. Apparently all that the Government believes, after a quarter of a century of insistent warning, is that the remedy lies in regulations governing logging operations which will make the areas logged more likely to reproduce future timber crops. There is no certainty of such a hope being fulfilled, and in any case the regulations now governing the logging industry are inadequate, and the Provincial Government, during the present session of the Legislature, has done nothing to amend these so as to foster conservation.

It is noted that 24,126 square miles of territory have been set aside for forest conservation purposes. There is no policy for reforestation of this area. That means, since there is no reforestation, that it is only a question of a comparatively short time before there will be insufficient timber to supply home and export needs. The industry is the chief one of British Columbia, and with its prospective disappearance the Province will be so much the poorer, to say nothing of a growing problem of unemployment. In the material economy of the Province few if any problems are of greater importance than the threatened destruction of the lumbering industry. Is there any hope of the Provincial Government doing anything worth while?

POLITICAL TOUTS

The practice of the Liberal Party in sending touts from house to house to find out how people are going to vote in Monday's by-election is unlikely to enhance popular appreciation of party politics. It is disturbing to the amour propre of the voters; it is a way of soliciting votes that goes strongly against the grain of those who believe in the secrecy of the ballot. This aspect of electioneering is rendered all the more sordid and venal when the touts engage in a whispering campaign implying more than saying in outright fashion that no benefits may be expected to inure to Victoria unless the Liberal candidate wins the by-election. Moreover, there is the implied hint as well that the youth of families who do not support the Government need not expect work and wages. This perhaps was what was meant by the slogan of the Liberal Party in a late Provincial election campaign.

It is often the case that the candidate of a party is not aware of the tactics resorted to on his behalf. It is unthinkable in the present instance that Mr. R. W. Mayhew, who is a business man and not a politician, approves of the work of political touts of the genus described. He is new to politics and does not understand some of the methods employed by the party he supports. He should, however, as the person chiefly concerned, put his foot down firmly against the employment of political touts. Mr. Mayhew cannot believe that the voters he is appealing to are venal, and, therefore, he should not permit the pursuance of a practice condemned in every decent society.

FORMER GERMAN COLONIES

There is growing evidence that recognition, in some form or other, is to be given to German claims for the return of African colonies lost in the Great War. Lord Halifax, on his visit to Germany, discussed the matter with Chancellor Hitler; speakers in the British House of Commons and the House of Lords have intimated that German claims in this particular cannot be overlooked, and many influential British newspapers are urging the Government to give some attention to the German case with a view to an adjustment.

What adjustment can be made without grave repercussions is a matter that has not been explained. It would be useless to point out to Germany that her financial and economic distress is due to her extreme economic nationalism and not to her lack of colonies. With her it is a matter of prestige rather than material loss or gain. To suggest that any or all of her former colonies be administered by Germany under mandate probably would be unacceptable, as Germany demands absolute ownership and control. She wants Empire status to give her the place in the sun which she claims is hers.

Strangely enough, only Great Britain is mentioned in discussions of the German colonial question. France, Italy, Belgium and South Africa as well as concerned, concerned so deeply that any move to satisfy Germany might be wholly unsatisfactory to them. In such a case, responsibility affecting the grievances is more widespread. Then there are the wishes of the natives and other residents of the colonies to be considered, while the Mandates Commission has authority that cannot be ignored.

The fate of Africa is at issue in the present, and to return colonies to Germany. The whole future of a continent is involved. It may be carved into militarized outposts of European Powers, for already Italy is engaged in founding a great military empire with bases in Abyssinia, Libya and Tripoli. Recognition of German claims probably would bring claims to new partition of Africa, reviving old rivalries and dooming that continent to be the battleground of competitive greed for power in Europe. There may be dangers in failing to satisfy the German claims, but before there is any attempt at an adjustment the whole of the broad subject will have to be studied in all its implications and agreement reached among those concerned. Otherwise the remedy may be far worse than the existing state of affairs, and more likely to be fatal to the cause of peace and international goodwill.

RISING PRICES

Among the Liberal claims in the present by-election campaign are: "Canada is indebted to the present administration not only for finding a market for her goods but also enabling the people to buy at cheaper prices." Any housewife can expose the fallacy of the latter claim. The cost of living has been steadily rising during the last few years. The Labor Gazette, issued by the Government, proves this. Every household budget shows that the cost of living is perpetually on the increase and that is the reason advanced in connection with every claim made by trades unionism for a rise in wages.

It is a pity that politicians so often deviate from facts. The statement that the Liberal Government at Ottawa has "enabled the people to buy at cheaper prices" was made on behalf of Mr. Mayhew's candidature at a meeting held in the City Temple. It is disproved, and in an emphatic way, in almost every phase of domestic economy and could not delude even the most stupid housewife. It is an illustration of a laxity of morals in political argument. Such a statement, absolutely contrary to the truth, cannot benefit the fortunes of any political cause. As well as a progressive rise in the cost of living under Liberalism, there is a rising tide of governmental costs, and the interest of the pockets of the taxpayers as a whole is a consideration that never enters into the economics of spendthrift zeal.

In Brisbane a resident has had his will recorded on a gramophone record. When the time comes it will probably be contested in the courts, for, so far as is known, there are no legal processes for probating such a will, which is necessarily unsigned and only has oral witnesses. A will must be signed by the testator in the presence of two witnesses, so what will be the legal effect of a gramophone record, however specific in telling what are the wishes of the deceased and how clear may be the voice of the testator? It may well be argued that such a will is a nuncupative will.

Due to irresponsible rumors, British Columbia has a habit of getting poor advertising. The Edmonton Journal says that there is talk in this Province of a 12-cent gasoline tax, and it believes that if British Columbia tries this "the law of diminishing returns is likely to make itself unpleasantly felt." Such a move would, most certainly, act as a deterrent to the tourist industry. The suggestion is unbelievable.

COMMUNIST STRATEGY

But they (the Communists) know admirably how to use events, even those which seem to be against them. Whether they gain or lose in Spain, they will at least have succeeded in using the affair to their own ends by finding there the means of introducing themselves as defenders of democracy. In circles so far closed to all contact with them. The democracy which they defend, in reality, has nothing in common with what is known under the same name in Canada, in the United States or in England. But no attention has been paid to the divergences of sense hidden in the common watchword, and this dangerous collaboration has been accepted. They have succeeded in introducing in accustomed people who for nothing in the world would live under the Soviet regime to the fact as is done in Moscow, or Valencia, or Barcelona. Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

"Quit ye like men. Be strong."

—Motto: H.M.S. Conway.

Three Victoria Crosses, 134 D.S.O., D.S.C., D.F.C., M.C., and other war-earned decorations went to Conway boys during the Great War, according to the 1937 prospectus issued by the Admiralty to the British seamen. Situated at Birkenhead in the Mersey River near Liverpool, the Conway long ago became an institution in the British traditions. It was there that mercantile, marine, naval, and naval reserve officers and men were trained from 1859 onwards, first in sail, then in steel and steam; but always, one believes, in manhood. The original H.M.S. Conway was launched by the Admiralty to mercantile steamship associations in 1859, a twenty-eight-gun frigate. In 1861 the warship was replaced by H.M.S. Winchester, renamed Conway, a fifty-gun frigate with wooden hull, and ponderous muzzle-loading guns lashed to her bulwarks. By 1875 even that frigate was too small for the growing school, and the battleship Nile, an auxiliary screw steamer, was sent to the place, and placed at the disposal of the association and became the Conway of today. Fifty-four feet in beam, 245 feet in length, H.M.S. Conway, a cadet school ship, has trained scores of the greatest sailors in all times. One is reminded of all this by the fact that at least one Victoria boy is to have the opportunity of joining the ship for training within the next year; for him, the chance of a lifetime.

"Quit ye like men. Be strong."

The motto helped to build a nation of seafaring men. Long may it continue to do so.

My friend from Mary called on me the other day. After that affair of the herring, I was a bit nervous meeting him; but it was all right, he had already forgotten "the herring." He said, "do you not like trees in this country?" "Certainly we like trees; why we set them aside in parks and reservations, we argue about them in Parliament, we sit up nights thinking of ways to make trees grow, we would certainly not let them be cut down," I replied. "Strange," murmured my friend from the next planet, "strange indeed. Yesterday, I stood beside a railway track and watched several carloads of trees—by young trees to be planted in 'Christmas trees'." I think you called them. They were about four or five years old. As I watched enough 'Christmas trees' went by to plant a large forest. I assume that is what they are for, then hanging presents under their green branches, to twine silver and tinsel about their needles, to bring happy smiles to the faces of young children, to—." My friend interrupted me: "That is all very well, but those trees are left to grow they would each have furnished seed for a thousand more trees. You are keeping the seed of some trees, I hope?" "Yes," I replied, "we keep a lot of seed—other countries; and then, we plant it—our planted seventy-five acres somewhere this year." "That is well," said my friend, "I see you people are provident; they will not wait for wood." He left me, muttering.

Useless, monstrous cat! There, day after day you sleep behind glass, like an animal in a 'zoo'—not even so alive as a stuffed cat, what do you get out of life? Somebody owns you. Once or more times a day somebody feeds you, because you are a pet, like an animal in a 'zoo'. Monstrous, over-sized cat, what do you do with your time? I see you in the early morning fast asleep, your rich fur pressed flat against the glass. I see you at noon, when the sun is hot, you are lying on your back, I see you when I am hurrying through town at all hours of the day. I think you have worn a dent in the plate glass. What is life to you, cat? I see you in the evening, when the light goes out, against whom you should rub your sides and purr, in gratitude? What of the dogs beyond the glass, out there in the street; do they mean nothing to you? I see you when the party from where you are a picture of a cat; and yet you move, for sometimes your head is facing east, and at times it is facing west. If you sleep by day, paws, do you walk by night? Is that the answer? Are you a prowler? Do you climb fences and wall in the backyards at midnight? You will not answer me! Well, have it your way, monstrous, useless cat. Your laziness offends me. Heaven help me, I covet your place in the window!

There is character in a tree. Take this new young tree alone on the brow of the hill, for instance. For twenty years or more it must have stood there; against the fierce blast from the southeast, from the south-west, branches are curled up tightly against the trunk as if to shut out the cold. Its stem leans northward, while its roots on the south reach deep and far in an effort to resist the force of the gale. Ball-sweep in storms by the wind-borne spray, the yew has grown against handicaps, insults, oppression. How like a man, is that tree. Bent from the storm, but striving to get straightened, it is a symbol of the human spirit, seeking to replace the torn-away parts. Lopsided, and growing in an unnatural mold. Yes, strength, endurance, patience, and courage in this yew. Give it time, and nature will correct all its faults; restore its beauty, replace its missing branches. Age, time and opportunity; but what of the wind? The wind is cold on the hilltop, where trees, and men, are exposed to life. Dig deep the soil. Let the roots go down, for anchorage, moisture. Set up a wind-break. Give the yew a chance. Give man a chance. Nature will do the rest.

Glancing Over Sport

Victoria City, the first division football club which won eight out of nine cup competitions last season, has had its ranks stripped of two of their stalwarts during recent weeks. First, Glen Robb, the rugged working center half, was sent to the club to join the Saanich Fire Department, and then husky John Roper, full back, went to the team he started soccer with, namely, James Island. These two players will be mighty hard to replace, but after all, your own team comes before sport.

Understand that Gordie Bell, brilliant right winger of the Victoria West, is going to join one of the Wednesday League eleven. Bell will be missed by both the greenhorns and the United, for he is the classiest right winger in the city if not in the province.

Boston's great hockey machine was finally halted by the Bruins when the famous Flying Frenchmen from Montreal held them to a one-all deadlock. However, the Bruins' record of being undefeated remains intact, and it may do so for some time yet.

Mysterious John Montague comes out with the statement that he is going to sharpen up his golf game in preparation for the British and U.S. open championships next year. There's one thing certain, and that is Montague's presence would certainly liven up the gate receipts at least 25 per cent.—J.D.

Keep to Left

An observant Canadian Press representative noticed that two swing doors at the Government Street entrance to the postoffice are marked "In" on the left and "Out" on the right, whereas the rest of the road has been "keep to the right" here for about seventeen years. Our only explanation is that the door signs were painted by a cross-eyed painter.

A Saanich hostess is still chuckling over the embarrassment of sixteen bridge players. She invited a number of friends to a party, and when the guests arrived, sixteen others marched in bearing their own tables. They grinned at the hostess, unfolded their tables and calmly sat down to play. A few minutes later they realized they were in the wrong house, so they silently folded up their tables and fled with red faces. Later it was learned the sixteen had been invited to take part in a telephone bridge game at a neighboring house.

Salesman Horace sagely informed us a man's dangerous age is any time when his business no longer keeps him worried. We seldom see Horace worried.—G.B.

Bread Pockets

There is no doubt that public acclaim and material reward await the individual who can invent a gadget which we may carry to remind us of letters we have been given to be mailed. The average man who makes a filing system in his breast pocket, and establishes writing material depots in other pockets in his suit, will find, when that suit is about to be sent to the cleaners, that he has carried letters to his mother-in-law, sweepstake tickets, and a fire insurance policy about him for weeks.

Possibly an extreme example of such forgetfulness was recounted by a friend of mine last week, who admitted that he bought a sweepstake ticket, placed it in his pocket, forgot he had bought it, drew a horse, won $150, and only remembered his good fortune when the tobacconist from whom he purchased the slip reminded him of the fact.

Such disregard of good fortune is classical.—B.G.

It's a Big Game

A well-known knight of the scissors and clippers in town is wondering just who the prairie resident is who possesses such an exaggerated sense of humor or spirit of generosity. The other day he received a rather bulky package, "collected" from beyond the Rockies, and was even more dismayed when he opened it and found a goose. The bird, however, was very plump. The territorial artist eventually confined it to a deep hole in his backyard. And now he's trying to figure out who sent him the game and what the game is.—W.F.

BIRDS AT LYTON

Sir—Some of your bird lovers may be interested to know that at this late date, birds are still migrating to the South. I have seen six flocks of "geese" wending their way to the South during the past ten days, some flying by day and trying their best to get out of snow storms, and others, going towards the moon as it rose in the eastern skies. Today, all at the same time, there were five varieties of birds in my garden. Robins were feeding on worms on our lawn where the snow had so recently lain. Red shafed flickers ate berries from the porch vines, and about a dozen black-headed jays chattered in the Manitoba maples. On the ground were two magpies, while four or five white-breasted nuthatches hopped about seeking for insects looking for insects and chirping so rapidly, they even seemed tame at my approach.

Our Fall has been very late, but it was a surprise to see robins about, so late in these parts, and you may be sure that I wasn't slow in putting out rolled oats and bread crumbs for them.

(MRS.) A. G. O'BRIEN.

RECIPROCITY

Sir—An editorial in The Daily Times of November 22, under the heading of "Out for Business, Too," states that England is on tangible grounds by seeking to enter into a special trade arrangement with the United States, and it intimated that Canada had no right to take exception, as our trade with them was most unfair to the United Kingdom. This editorial was re-echoed by a lady member of that journal with a political bias in her bonnet, over a radio speech the same evening, in behalf of the Liberal nominee. Why did they both refrain from giving returns of our trade relationship with the United States? Allow me to fill in the gap.

Our imports from the United Kingdom for five years were $636,615,738, our sales to them during that time was $1,086,998,619, a difference in our favor of $450,382,881. My figure was taken from the Canada Year Book of last year.

Now, as Canada is a debtor nation, and Great Britain a creditor one it is only business acumen to establish a trade parity (interest included). We are indebted to England about $3,000,000,000, say at 4 per cent we do not quite reach parity. Let us now look at our trade relationship with the United States, and a creditor nation. During the same period, as above, we imported from the United States $2,854,273,566, and sold them $1,437,500,339, a difference in their favor of $1,416,773,227. As we have less than one-third of their population, the difference is not reciprocally but financial absorption. We are also indebted to the United States about $4,000,000,000, say at 4 per cent, or $800,000,000 interest during this five years. As a comparison we pay England about 1 per cent on our loan to them, while to the United States we pay about 10 per cent (graveyard rates).

A refrain, with slight changes, occur to my mind: "Where are you going my pretty maid?" "To the boundary line, to milk the Canadian-fed cow," she said. "Reciprocity."

With all due regard to the sincerity of Mr. Mayhew as to his intentions the road to political extinction are paved with such intention) he will have to be a yes-man to Mr. King or a back bench nonentity. We want a fighter to give strength to the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett who will back our Empire states we pay about 10 per cent (graveyard rates). Is the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King's well-known United States complex to be allowed to weaken one link in the chain of Empire solidarity? I hope and trust not. The Times' politico-literature and radio spellbinder, stated in her address that as Mr. King had made no statement regarding the effect on the Empire pact the Great British Trade agreement with the United States might have, it was purely conjectural as to his opinion. But, my lady, he did, in that infinitesimal spot of musing way in his gently breaking the news to mother, he stated that it might be possible that Canada may have to give up some of its concessions (lumber, fish, apples; mayhap the moyle quota as carried on at the Willows) but through and by his strategic mind, he would see that we obtained a more than satisfactory substitute.

COAST DEFENCE OR POLITICS

Sir—The persistent exploitation in the use by the Liberal machine, assisted by the Minister of National Defence, of the term "coast defence" as a prominent feature of the propaganda that is being injected into the Federal by-election should stir the blood and create a feeling of disgust and revulsion in the 100 per cent Canadian and British-born resident of this city and the province generally. Effective defence for the protection of our country, families, homes and interests, is a serious question to be smothered with the slime of dirty-politics and the catch phrase slogan of "Work and Wages."

A practical analysis of the proposed defences as announced create a question of double as to whether the "elixir of patronage" is not a prominent ingredient in the sleeping potion that is being administered to the inhabitants of this Coast. Either that or a weakness in conception by the Minister of National Defence of what a really effective and strategic defence of Canada's Pacific Coast should be when divorced from politics and vote catching. We are handed a programme of inadequate and doubtfully effective protective works centered in or closely adjacent to the two main seaports and population centres of Victoria, the seat of Government, and Vancouver, the big trans-continental rail terminal of great strategic importance to an enemy, without a realization that the location of heavy gun and air defences within or near to population centres are open invitations for the destruction of those centres. Shanghai's destruction is an example of future war methods—with the slaughter of non-participants.

Possibly the usual practice of Liberal policy in patronage distribution at the larger voting centres is part of the defence objectives that an enemy cannot destroy.

The weakness in the defences proposed for this coast—particularly as to location—can be likened to the protection given by an umbrella in a high wind storm. What we recognized as seemingly adequate defence a decade ago is now obsolete. The bombing plane has taken the spotlight as the most dangerous weapon of war and this we must have in view in our defences.

Logically, and as the view of some of the retired officers of the British Navy and Army now resident here, the strongest and most effective defence lies on the West Coast of the Island—at the funnel mouth of the Strait of Juan de Fuca overlooked by Cape Beal and at Barkley Sound for the protection of Alberni Canal. The control of the Alberni waterway and connecting rails to Nanaimo and Victoria by an enemy would restrict the forts at Alberni and Williams Heads to the shooting of gulls in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS
Sir—You quoted the St. Croix, N.B., Courier as stating that the Social Credit Government of Alberta by attempting to interfere with the "free Press" of that province infringed upon one of the most vital rights of the people and impaired "the efficiency of an agency which is and has been unremitting in the promotion of the public welfare."

It can hardly be said that where Mammon worship prevails, the freedom of the Press is a myth. Had the Canadian Press been free during the last few years, would there have been the almost unanimous outcry against Social Credit and the Alberta Government? There would not have been, because some editors realize that our distributive system is a failure, and that the Alberta Government is trying to arrange a fairer method of distribution. They realize also

TORONTO, Nov. 24 (P.).—Carlo

SAYS RULES HURT TRADE

Bruce McKelvie States Federal Regulations Hampered Development of Poultry

Dealing with inter-provincial marketing in his address at North Ward School last night, Bruce A.
McKelvie, the Conservative candidate, attacked the Federal Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, for his department's policy which,
he said, resulted in regulations designed to exclude the shipment of chickens to the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan by refusing to accept the Provincial department's flock tests.

SUFFERED LOSSES
Through those regulations, Mr.
McKelvie declared, poultrymen on Vancouver Island had suffered heavy losses. He also stated the removal of egg-laying contests from Sidney to the Interior had hindered the development of Island strains of poultry. The candidate claimed the action was taken by the Federal department to protect the poultrymen of Saskatchewan—at the expense of the poultry raisers of British Columbia. The grant to Saanich Agricultural Farm had also been cut, he stated.

Touching on the progress of the by-election campaign, Mr. McKelvie said it had been one of many peculiarities in which there was an undercurrent of bitterness and veiled personalities from the Liberal side.
He suggested it was foolish for the Liberal candidate to intimate that the defenses of Canada were in peril if a Government candidate was not elected in the Victoria riding.

SUPPORT FOR YOUTH
The candidate stated the idealism advocated by the C.C.F. candidate were impractical to this age and "cannot come until we have achieved a standardization of the individual." He expressed his desire to see the youth of British Columbia in profitable employment. He submitted the educational policy appeared one designed to teach children how to live in a city with no regard for the vocational requirements of the labor market. Only by the development of the natural resources of this country and long-range planning could the youth of the province hope to make their future homes in the place of their birth.

He submitted he was better fitted,
as a member of the House of Commons in opposition, to express the needs of British Columbia and particularly Vancouver Island. "I can express the wishes of the people of this city and of this Island without the fear of caucus rules and without fear of embarrassing the Government, and it must be realized that British Columbia and other Western provinces must get support from the East before securing any concessions." He believed that support would be forthcoming if Eastern interests were made aware of the possibilities of this part of the Dominion, he said.

SEEK FAIR DEAL
Two other speakers supported Mr.
McKelvie on the platform. They were Hugh Allan, a former president of the Victoria Conservative Association, and Warwick Rawson, chairman of the Young Conservatives' campaign committee. Mr. Rawson, in a brief speech, championed the cause of youth and said he firmly believed Mr. McKelvie would be of more assistance to the youth movement than others in the present campaign. "We believe Mr. McKelvie will give our young men a fair deal and do all in his power to secure employment for those on this Island and in this city." He also urged youth to take an interest in the politics of the Dominion "not only at election time, but at all times."

Hugh Allan, who was introduced by W. H. Haldane, the chairman, stated that throughout the campaign, the Liberals had not brought out any new policy. The whole campaign, he said, was designed as a build-up of the Liberal candidate. He asked the audience to contrast the public addresses of Mr. McKelvie with those of the Liberal candidate. "All of his campaign speeches have been an enunciation of the policy of the Conservative Party," he said.

VALUE OF OPPOSITION
The appeal for another member to augment the Liberal Government majority in the House of Commons was asserted, against the principle of the party system, a system that had developed in democracies because it provided for healthy opposition and made it possible for all government measures to be openly discussed and criticized "from the floor of the House. Too much government swamped criticism, he maintained.

Mr. Allan touched on Imperial preferences and the alleged values of trade agreements made by the Bennett Government in 1932 and quoted statements from Babson's reports to show the recovery made in Canada since the agreements became effective. In 1936 Canadian business had increased 127 per cent over the depression low. He said a great deal of the credit for recovery should go to the Bennett Administration.

REPEATS CHALLENGE
Mr. Haldane, in his opening address, charged that to date Mr.
Mayhew had failed to reply to repeated challenges that he state what benefits were accruing to Victoria and how they were to be secured.
"The only item advocated by the candidate of the Liberal Party is unemployment insurance, a measure that was brought down by Mr. Bennett and which the Liberals bitterly criticized in the House. It was sent to the Privy Council when the King Government came into office and declared ultra vires by the Federal Government. You see it is not a new policy, but the policy of the Bennett Government, the policy the government of the Conservatives would have put into force had it been re-elected in 1935," Mr. Haldane concluded.

Demolish Church—City workmen yesterday commenced demolition of the old Congregational Church at the corner of Blanshard Street and Pandora Avenue. It was ordered torn down by the City Council on November 1, when it was found the cost of repairs would be prohibitive.

Knocked Down—While crossing
Government Street at 11:30 a.m., Street, Wong Dim, 522 Pilsford Street, collided with an automobile driven by W. C. Martin, 1250 Seaview Avenue, at 6:15 o'clock last evening. The Chinese was knocked down, but apparently not injured.

Police Radio—Further tests of radio telephones for police vehicles will be made before the police commission makes any recommendation.
Mayor Andrew McGavin stated yesterday, a two-way radio telephone system has been investigated in use by the mayor, chief of police and police commissioners.

Car Broken Open—M. J. Mc-Donald, 610 Fort Street, informed police late last evening that a door on his automobile had been forced open while it was parked on Langley Street, near Yates Street. He missed a kit of radio repair tools, radio tubes, electric light globes and a quantity of wire.

Purse Stolen—Mrs. J. H. Kel-son, 1319 Stanley Avenue, informed police that her purse was stolen from a postoffice ticket by an unidentified man at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning. The man was described as six years of age, about five feet eight inches tall, with a beard, and wearing a brown suit and felt hat.

C.C.F. Meeting Tonight—The C.C.F. meeting tonight in connection with the Federal by-election campaign will be held in the James Bay clubrooms, 27 Boyd Street, where the speakers will be M. J.
Coldwell, M.P.; Grant McNeill, M.P., and the candidate, Professor J.
King Gordon. Welsh Lee will be chairman.

Cars Collide—Automobiles driven by Harry Harding, 308 Chester
Street, and J. T. Moore, Work Point Barracks, were in collision at the intersection of Bay Street and Cedar Hill Road at 2:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Harding's machine tore through a nearby enclosure. Both automobiles were badly damaged, but drivers were uninjured.

Takes Speedy Trial—Robert Watson, who was committed for trial in the city police court a few days ago, charged with having stolen an automobile belonging to the wholesale firm of W. H. Malkin Co., Ltd., will take speedy trial next Tuesday when he appears before Judge H. H.
Shandley in the County Court. He was before His Honor yesterday and made his election.

Addresses Association—On Tuesday night in the Y.M.C.A., H. L.
Stirling spoke to the Victoria and District British-Israel Association on "The World Prospect, Secular and Spiritual." The Scriptures, old and new, were being literally fulfilled in these "latter days," he claimed, and all the signs of Our Lord's second coming—war, wars, internal and external convulsions—were coming to pass as He said they would before He came to take over the Kingdom of God on earth.

Settles Log Hauling Case—In the County Court yesterday, Judge H.
H. Shandley decided in favor of the plaintiff in the case of William Blakeney vs. George Goudie and A. L. Bradley on the hearing of the argument relative to the dispute in County Court. The dispute was over a claim put forward by Gordon A. Cameron, representing the plaintiff, for $205 alleged to be due in connection with a log hauling contract. L. C. Mills appeared for the defendants.

Minister Returns—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, accompanied by his secretary, C.
Norman Senior, returned to Victoria yesterday to take part in the by-election campaign on behalf of the Liberal standard bearer, R. W.
Mayhew. Mr. Mackenzie is registered

CLAIMS ISLAND IS NEGLECTED

H. Despard Twigg Gives Account of Exploitation to Conservative Ward

Island affairs were definitely wrapped up in the Federal by-election,
H. Despard Twigg informed
Ward Five Conservative Association in Campbell Building headquarters when he spoke on "Vancouver Island" last evening. Hubert Lethaby presided.

Mr. Twigg saw no reason why Island members in the Provincial Government, no matter what party they were connected with, should not at all times take up cudgels for Vancouver Island. In referring to the by-election, he stated many of R. W. Mayhew's interests were in Vancouver; that Prof. King Gordon's feet were planted in the East, and that no man was better fitted than Bruce A. McKelvie to place Island needs before the Federal Government.

He charged the Federal Liberal Government had allowed a flood of vile United States magazines, banned by the Bennett Government, to re-enter Canada. He also claimed the United States needed the Canadian market for its products, and Empire trade treaties standing in the way would be scrapped by the King Government. He said Victoria liked the connection made with the rest of the British Empire through the trade treaties and he hoped voters would show their stand at the election.

START OF TROUBLES
Mr. Twigg stated Vancouver Island's troubles started in 1866 when the Crown colony united with the Mainland and illegally lost free ports here and at Esquimalt. He gave many illustrations to prove that the Mainland prospered at the Island's expense. He outlined control of Vancouver Island logging from Vancouver, to the detriment of Island communities and loggers.

"A leading Liberal informed me Vancouver Island would get nothing unless a minister of public works was elected from the territory. We have seen time and time again that a Federal Liberal Government has been absolutely no advantage to the Island," Mr. Twigg asserted. He closed by making a strong appeal for Mr. McKelvie.

A report from the Junior Conservative Association showed that regular meetings were being held bi-monthly. Members were taking an active part in the election campaign and were planning a series of educational talks.

Ward Five passed a resolution to officers of the junior association, congratulating them for the efficient manner in which their affairs were conducted.

HERE'S THE SECRET OF SERVING GOOD COFFEE

• Carnation in coffee adds flavour and a rich colour.
On cereals or fruit, Carnation takes the place of cream deliciously and economically. In all cooking where milk is used, Carnation adds richness, because Carnation itself is twice as rich as ordinary milk; smoothness, because every drop of Carnation has its share of butterfat.

All the food value of the best cows' milk is in Carnation, making it a splendid food for babies. In addition, it is more digestible and has extra "sunshine" vitamin D. Carnation is the evaporated milk the Dianne Quintuplets use.

Conservative Women Going to Live in Winnipeg Accord Enthusiastic Welcome to Speaker

Mrs. George Black, M.P. for the Yukon, Addresses Capacity Audience in Espousing Candidature Of Bruce A. McKelvie in By-Election Here

ONE of the biggest and most enthusiastic gatherings of Conservative women ever held in the city rallied at Conservative headquarters, Campbell Building, yesterday afternoon to hear Mrs. George Black, M.P. for the Yukon, and the only woman Conservative Member of Parliament in the Dominion. Standing room was at a premium. Other speakers were Bruce A. McKelvie, Conservative candidate in the Victoria by-election, and Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P. for Yale, and formerly Minister of National Defence in the Bennett Government. Mrs. S. R. Bowden, president of the women's organization, presided.

"Statesmen and politicians have many difficult situations to meet, and one of the most difficult is the women's vote. Because of the fact that the women of this country have almost 51 per cent of the vote, it is up to the women, who are the housekeepers and real financiers, to decide what is best for this country," said Mrs. Black at one point in her address. Women were too shrewd not to question how any government could continue to go more and more into debt without mortgaging the future of today's children and the coming generations.

THINK OF FUTURE

She herself was a ninth generation American, born in Chicago. She knew that if the Canadian Government entered into trade relations with the United States Government, she would pay her quid pro quo, Mrs. Black maintained in referring to the trade agreement policies of the Liberal Government. The statement was linked up to her reference to the "threat of disappearing timber and fruit industries." She sincerely hoped and believed that Canada would not lose the friendship of the United States simply because the Dominion was not ready to meet the States' wishes in respect of trade treaties. The States might need Canada some day just as much as Canada needed the States, and cultivation of the friendship between the two countries would work to mutual advantage.

At the outset, Mrs. Black regretted that so much bitterness had entered into the present political campaign. She could not agree in all instances with the policies of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. But this was no reason for her to abuse him, nor

VANCOUVER ISLAND

Mrs. McKelvie, who, like Mrs. Black, was received with applause, was the first speaker in referring to the undertakings of the Liberals.

MRS. GEOFFREY E. WALLS

Who, with her husband, Captain Walls, of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will leave tonight for Vancouver, en route to Winnipeg, Captain Walls having been transferred from Work Point to Fort Osborne Barracks. Captain and Mrs. Walls have been at Esquimalt for the past ten years, and a host of friends have been entertaining them recently at farewell parties before their departure.

Mrs. McKelvie asked what consideration Premier Mackenzie King had ever shown for Vancouver Island. In this connection was specially mentioned the "virtual embargo" against Vancouver Island chickens going to the Saskatchewan market. This was the result of the closing down of the annual egg-laying contest which, formerly held at Sidney Experimental Farm, had drawn wide attention to the fine strain of laying hens here. Hon. Mr. Gardiner had practically put this business of pedigree poultry-raising out of business on Vancouver Island by moving the egg-laying contest to Agassiz, the speaker said.

JOBS FOR YOUTH

"My cry is that our capital wealth is going. We must have definite progressive plans to get new activities to replace those that have been destroyed," urged Mr. McKelvie, in calling attention to the need of creation of some permanent industries that would give employment to the hundreds of young men and women annually graduating from school.

Industries which had automatically been withdrawn from the Island to the place where ships and railways met, should have been replaced with other industries and new forms of employment. The forests should have been conserved, both for the sake of the lumber industry and as a tourist and park attraction. The park assets should have been developed. In 1910 Sir Richard McBride had established Strathcona Park, but for twenty-four years nothing had been done to develop it.

DENIES ACCUSATION

Mr. McKelvie denied the accusations that he was a secessionist. But unlike the Island could get fairer treatment, it could be wise for it to get control of its own revenues. Although the Island had a population of about 130,000 practically nothing had been done to link up the road system with the mainland by the establishment of cheaper ferry routes.

Defence of the Coast was important, but, the speaker stated, it should not be made a political issue, as had been done by Hon. Ian MacKenzie. Protection of and provision for old age was also discussed, Mr. McKelvie advocating the setting aside and earmarking of sales tax for old age pensions.

Hon. Grote Stirling spoke briefly about the proposed trade agreement with the United States. It would be foolish for Canada at this point to sacrifice any of those preferences which Mr. Bennett had fought so hard to secure for Canada, he asserted.

Weddings

DETMANN-SCOTT

The marriage was quietly solemnized in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, last evening at 8 o'clock, between Dorothea, only daughter of Mr. Walter Scott, Old Esquimalt Road, and the late Mrs. Scott, and Mr. Albert Detmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Detmann, Winnipeg. Rev. Arthur Bliesinger officiated at the service, and the wedding marches were played by the church organist.

The bride was given away by her father, and she wore a gown of cloth of gold buttoned from throat to hem and fashioned with long pointed sleeves and a "highwayman" collar. She also wore a

St. Andrew's Ball Will Be Picturesque

When, with pipers leading on Tuesday evening next, one hundred and fifty couples, maybe more, at 9 o'clock sharp, fall in for the grand march, the St. Andrew's Ball at the Empress Hotel will be one of a great chain of St. Andrew's Balls which each November 30 all over the world glitter starlike in the social firmament.

From Edinburgh to Birmingham, London, New York, Montreal, the Far East, India, Egypt and back to Edinburgh, the bagpipes will be skirling. For St. Andrew's Eve and St. Andrew's Day, traditionally significant in Scotland throughout the ages, is of late years a top-ranking social occasion everywhere.

At the Empress Hotel here the tartans of the Fraser, the Murray, the Cameron, the Lindsay and many another clan will mingle with the dress uniforms of the officers of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, who wear the Hunting-Stuart, a plaid of dark blue and green crossed with red and yellow. Augmented by the Empress orchestra, the pipes will play ancient and lovely reels to which, between modern numbers, the kilts and their ladies will dance.

In the traditional procession and ancient ceremony of the haggis, Mr. Colin Ruthford will act as sword bearer, Hon. Frank M. MacPherson as chief and cut "The Great Chieftain of the pudding race"; Colonel F. A. Lindsay will be the haggis bearer; Lieut.-Colonel J. R. Kingham and Lieut.-Colonel Brooke-Stephenson the whisky bearers; Colonel Walter Barty will carry the Ram's Horn of Plenty. There will be heather girls and pipers, color and picturesque gaiety.

P.T.A. Activities

Another of the popular old-time dances will be held in the Oaklands School auditorium tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served and the orchestra will give free instruction in old-time dances from 8 to 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Lilian Woodward Is Leaving Soon for Toronto Bride of Mr. C. R. Easton

Pretty Wedding Takes Place at Victoria Gospel Hall—Largely Attended Reception at "Clov-elly," Home of Bride's Parents

Gold and white was the color motif in the decorations and dresses at the marriage of Miss Lilian Woodward, third daughter of Mrs. A. J. Woodward, North Quadra Street, and of the late Mr. Woodward, and Mr. Carman Ross Easton, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Easton, Kings Road, which took place last evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Victoria Gospel Hall, in the presence of a large congregation of friends. Mr. B. Sutherland conducted the service, and Mr. Ian Galliford presided at the organ. As the register was being signed, Mrs. Edmund Woodward, sister-in-law of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love." During the ceremony the bride and groom stood before a white lattice and tall baskets filled with golden chrysanthemums and gold leaves. Poesies of flowers tied with white satin ribbon were attached to the guest pews.

THE BRIDE

A period frock of ivory chiffon velvet was worn by the bride, with a short train, and a shirred bodice and long shirred sleeves which came to a point over the wrists. Her lovely veil of old Buckingham lace was attached to a pointed head-dress of gold pearls, with a cluster of orange blossoms over each ear, and fell in soft folds to the hem of her dress. She carried a round bouquet of golden Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. Golden slippers completed her attractive toilette. Mr. Edmund Woodward gave his sister in marriage.

THE BRIDESMAIDS

The bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Woodward, sister of the bride, and Miss Allen Grubb, in charming floor-length frocks of yellow lace with long pointed sleeves, who wore coronet, gold slippers and carried arm bouquets of Talsman roses.

The bride's small nieces, Constance and Felicity Woodward, were flower girls, dressed in long frocks of yellow lace, and carrying Juliet caps, who carried Victorian posies of blending flowers.

Mr. Kenneth Easton attended his brother, and Mr. Edgar Burkishaw was usher.

RECEPTION AT "CLOVELLY"

Miss Woodward entertained at a delightful reception after the service at her home, "Clov-elly," where the guests were received in the drawing room, where tall baskets filled with pink chrysanthemums and silver leaves featured the decorations. A table of beige suede lace with black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of yellow roses and lilies of the valley, were worn by the bride's mother, and receiving with her was the bridegroom's mother, in a Burgundy lace gown and a matching velvet hat, who wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

Supper was served in the candle-lit dining-room, where white tapers in branched silver candelabra cast a soft glow over the table, which was centered with a lace cloth and covered with a lace cloth.

After a honeymoon on the Mainland, for which the bride went away in a crepe frock and velvet hat in Dubonnet shades, and a brown squirrel coat adorned with a corsage bouquet of gardenias, the couple will return to Victoria to live.

A school teacher asked his pupils to write an account of Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves in their own words. The following is a brief extract from one boy's paper: "Open, open me cried Ali, advancing towards the cave, gun in hand."

Hostess at Shower

Mrs. R. E. Chambers entertained on Tuesday evening at her home on George Road at a delightful party shower in honor of Miss Janet E. Sneddon, R.N., who is being married this week. A color scheme of lavender and yellow was used in the decorations in the reception and dining rooms, lovely chrysanthemums in the prevailing shades being used. MEN LOVE PEPPY GIRLS

If you are happy and peppy and full of fun, men will take you place. If you are dreary, they will invite you to dances and parties.
But, if you are cross and lifeless and always tired out, men won't be interested in you. Men don't like "quiet" girls. They want girls who are full of pep.
For three generations one woman has told another how to go "peppy" through Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It gives Nature time up the system, thus leaving the discomforts from the function disorders which women must endure in the three or four of life. 1. Turning from lethargy to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching middle age.
Don't be a three-quarter vegetable. Take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "peppy" through.

Poliflor is a BLENDED WAX

POLIFLOR is so much better because it is a BLEND of many ingredients needed to do a complete job. It provides:

- (1) A wax that spreads easily
- (2) A drier that makes for speed
- (3) A wax that gives a high finish
- (4) Hard waxes that resist foot marks for a longer time
- (5) A clean, fresh odor instead of a disagreeable smell
- (6) An antiseptic ingredient that kills germs and makes a floor a safe place for the youngsters to play.

Unofficial Wife

CHAPTER XXXV
You see I object to—to people thinking we are married, and then for you to spend the day with—
She broke off as he suddenly caught her by both arms.

"I tell you that I have not spent the day with the damned girl," he said savagely. "Ask her, if you don't believe me. I took the train out to Surrey this morning. I went alone, and I walked over the downs alone,
and I came back alone; and then I got the car and went out to buy some flowers for you as a peace offering."

"And you didn't buy them," Sybil said.

"No, I didn't—because before I got to the shops I met Joan, as I told you, and—His eyes searching her face. "Why—you're jealous,"
he said in a queer voice.

"Jealous!"
The hot color flooded Sybil's pale face, and she struggled in vain to free herself from his hands. "How dare you say such a thing to me.
Jealous—of that girl—and of you?"
she said.

"I suppose you think I've got a right to treat me as if—as if I were really your wife—just because you're paying me to—to—"

"If you were my wife, I'd thrash you," Robert said.

She looked up at him with furious eyes. "Yes, I believe you'd even be capable of that," she answered breathlessly. "But I'm not your wife, and I'm not jealous of you or of anything you do," and then as the faintest smile crossed his face she rushed on, "I don't even like you—and as to being jealous—you've got to love someone to be jealous."

"You seem to know a good deal about it," he said shortly.

"I do know a good deal about it—unfortunately," she answered.

His face changed a little. "You told me there wasn't anyone you cared about."

"That isn't the only lie I've told you," she said definitely.

She felt the grip of his fingers tighten on her arms and she gave a little cry of pain. "Oh—let me go; you're hurting me," but he still held her fast as he asked, "Is it—Loder?"
and then as she would not answer
he almost shook her. "Is it Loder?"
"You've no right to ask me—I refuse to tell you."

WINNIPEG TO SEEK HONORS

Blue Bombers to Compete
For Canadian Rugby
Crown in East

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24 (P).—Winnipeg's Blue Bombers, Western Canadian senior Rugby-Union champions, will leave for the East on December 2, nine days before they are scheduled to meet the Eastern Canadian titlists in the Dominion final.

Twenty-six players will be named by Coach Bob Fritz to make the trip in the Winnipeg quest to regain the Grey Cup won in 1935.

Blue Bombers will personally scout the Eastern final between Sarnia Imperials and the Big Four champions, either Ottawa Roughriders or Toronto Argonauts, December 4.

Their plans thereafter are indefinite, but President Les Lard hopes to take the athletes to Ann Arbor for a five-day training programme in the University of Michigan's field.

While the Winnipeg team continues light workouts here no attempt at scrimmaging will be made until the team is in the East, Manager Lou Adelman said.

WANTS HOCKEY TO ADOPT RULE

Bill Stewart, of Chicago, Says Ice Game Should Follow Baseball

CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (P).—Major league hockey, believes Bill Stewart, should adopt organized baseball's starting line-up rule.

Baseball rules require that a starting line-up list be handed to the plate umpire before a game, while hockey law merely calls for a list of eligible players, leaving managers free to change their battlefronts at the last minute.

Stewart, new manager of the Chicago Black Hawks, will ask the National Hockey League board of governors to adopt the rule as the result of a line-up-shifting contest with Manager Jack Adams, of Detroit Red Wings, last week. Adams refused to name a starting line-up, whereupon Stewart likewise refused.
The match was delayed almost ten minutes while the managers and officials wrangled over which should put his team on the ice first.

Mondou Has Bone Broke In Left Leg

BOSTON, Nov. 24 (P).—X-rays disclosed today Armand Mondou, centre for Montreal Canadiens, would be out of the National Hockey League luncheon for eight weeks as a result of a broken bone in his left leg.

Mondou, whose goal for the Montreal team last night broke the Boston Bruins' six-game winning streak, fell and twisted his leg during a tangle with Eddie Shore, Bruins' defence man. He managed to skate off the ice after the accident.

"X-rays showed Mondou broke a small bone above the ankle of his left leg, and he will be out of the game for eight weeks," said Cecil Hart, manager. "We will take him back to Montreal with us today."

Hart said he did not know who would replace Mondou.

Wembley Lions Win

LONDON, Nov. 24 (P).—Wembley

feated Streatham, 3-0, here tonight

Scorers were Tony Lemay, flashy Winnipeg centre, Ab Welsh of Saskatoon and Bobby Keane, Fort William defenceman.

DICTATORSHIP IS PREDICTED

J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., Alleges Commodities in Hands of Monopolies

Asserting that the fate of democracy was in the balance, J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., national leader of the C.C.F., declared last night that already there was a very considerable measure of financial dictatorship in Canada. Mr. Woodsworth spoke at a meeting attended by about 150 persons, held in the Queen of Peace Hall, Esquimalt, in support of Professor J. King Gordon's candidature for the Federal by-election.

Analyzing the coal and gasoline report, Mr. Woodsworth declared that these great commodities were under the control of what was practically a monopoly, and that the people were being bled to pay the dividends.

HUGE PROFITS

"Some of these days we shall have to revise our idea of what stealing is. Men who can steal millions of dollars are accorded the highest positions in the land," the speaker stated. Other reports on industries, he continued, revealed monopolies or near-monopolies, with huge profits for a few, small prices to the primary producers, small wages to those engaged in industry, and large prices charged to the consumers. The old-time civil liberties of freedom of speech and organization were rapidly being swept aside, and the opportunity of voting freely was already being taken from the workers, he asserted, and in this regard he said that "C.C.F. posters placed on the street cars had been called off."

SAYS PATRONAGE RAMPANT

"My challenge tonight is that to no small extent the older political parties are being controlled in their policies by big interests. The statute books show that the policies of the Government are those of big business and not of the common people," Mr. Woodsworth stated. He declared further that patronage was rampant and characterized it as "a veiled form of bribery for which the people feel."

Enumerating certain recommendations of the Kidd Commission, whose report was signed by Mr. Mayhew, Mr. Woodsworth said that since that report, "which was too raw even for the Tories Government," had not been repudiated, he would like to ask whether it represented Mr. Mayhew's economic outlook on life.

Professor Gordon referred to the "big guns" of the Liberal Government and the Conservative Party who had been brought to Victoria, and suggested that the Government was on the defensive and fearful of the issue. He described the record

It will be according to one's own mind whether or not it will prove to be a day properly or improperly spent. Strength of character must be shown this day in overcoming personal weaknesses. The child born on November 25 is generally very impulsive. It must be taught to conduct itself in a quiet, orderly manner in the presence of its elders. Upon attaining adulthood it probably will bank in the smiles of fortune.
If a man and November 25 is your natal day, if you conserve your assets and make conservative investments, you will weather safely the storms of adversity. Through preaching, teaching, lecturing, acting, selling, manufacturing or inventing, many money-making opportunities may come your way.

American Mail Liner Encountered Usual November Weather on Pacific

Average North Pacific weather for November ruled during the crossing of the American Mail Line Ss. President Grant, Captain H. B. Clark, U.S.N.R., commander, which docked here yesterday morning from the Philippines via China and Japan ports. The liner had a fair passenger list aboard, including a large number of refugees, mainly from South China.

Cargo for Victoria and onward destinations, approximately 2000 tons, was landed here, the bulk of which was loaded in Japan and consisted of Japanese oranges, silk and Christmas goods. As soon as the oranges were put ashore, trucks headed them for the haul to the G.N.R. cars at Ogden Point, while one of the B.C. Coast Service boats went alongside Rithet Piers to load consignments routed over Canadian Pacific lines.

Passengers on the liner arriving here were Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Augustin, the former being manager of the Asia Company, Tientsin, proceeding to California for an extended visit; Captain B. H. Bruce, U.S.N.R., accompanied by Mrs. Bruce and two sons, on their way from Shanghai to Washington; Mrs. B. Humphrey and daughter, on their way from Portland; Rev. and Mrs. N. M. Cressman and family, of the Christian Missionary Alliance, from Hongkong for Pennsylvania; R. C. Pullerton, professor at Lester Technical Institute, Shanghai, on his way to England; B. T. Godfrey, mining engineer, returning from Manila to San Francisco, and Mrs. J. Griggs, who has been visiting her daughter in Canton, for Seattle.

Gathering Seaweed on Waterfront

A familiar sight along the Dallas Road waterfront is the Chinese gathering seaweed. This man is sorting the weed and selecting only that specie that is wanted in his native country. After the seaweed is gathered it is spread out to dry, usually on sidewalks, and later shipped. Some kinds of seaweed contain medicinal ingredients.

Hanson, San Francisco businessman; Miss P. Johnson, refugee from Shanghai; Mrs. S. Kuhn, from Tokyo for Switzerland; Miss W. H. Kelly, missionary, proceeding to Alabama; Rev. and Mrs. R. Lewis and family, missionaries from China for California; Mrs. E. Lubel and family, Shanghai refugees; Lester W. Mar, student, returning from Hongkong to his home in Seattle; Commander and Mrs. D. M. Miller and family, returning to Philadelphia from service with the United States Navy in Asiatic waters; H. F. Marsh, mining engineer from Chinwangtao for Seattle; Mrs. P. Melrose and family, Mrs. H. McBee, Mrs. C. F. Ricard and daughter, Mrs. E. Stelmets, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stringham and family, Miss J. B. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Vezev and family and Rev. and Mrs. G. Ziemer and family were a group of refugees returning to the United States from the Orient.

Also arriving on the liner were V. P. Wilhoit, from Tientsin, who will visit relatives in California; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Vilas and family, the former being a lumberman from Shanghai, on business and pleasure trip; Victor Schoua, going to Buenos Aires, and Miss A. Parker, returning home to Glendale, Cal., after spending some years in the Orient as a missionary.

This service was installed seven years ago to assist the general public in learning of steamship arrivals and departures, but as they learned more about it, Mr. John Public began to telephone in with all kinds of questions. As a result, the bureau these days is handling as many as 120 telephone calls per hour — an average of one every thirty seconds. Anything up to 1,000 questions a day are received and dealt with by one of the three operators who work in shifts on the inquiry job.

The majority of questions are seeking information on the arrival or departure of Canadian Pacific vessels, weather conditions at landing points or train connections with the ships, but, sprinkled in generous proportion with these, are the thoughtful queries of people who regard the "desk" as a general information bureau, and an odd job department, to boot.

"SOME BOAT OR OTHER"
There was, for instance, the Boston woman who phoned long distance. She believed her husband had reached Montreal on "some boat or other," and would like to have him phone her. The inquiry man located him at an up-town hotel and had him call home. One voice, on a Christmas Eve, when the St. Lawrence was under thirty feet of ice, wanted to know what time the Duchess of Bedford would arrive at Montreal; and occasionally people with immigration problems phone in about their case to Canada in or about 1889 or maybe it was in 1890. They would like to know what boat they came on so they could get their landing certificates which they forgot at time of arrival.

Kiddies often ring up for information, especially regarding geography, a subject in which the inquiry men are natural.

Many people seem to think the Canadian Pacific handle all battleships entering port, for each time one arrives, thousands of inquiries pour in, regardless of whether the vessel is of British, French, German or American origin.

And just to top off the job, these information ladies are often called upon to handle wagers or settle them, when rash Montrealers have risked a fiver on estimates of length, breadth or mast heights of certain ships. What a job!

A man recently told a magistrate that he makes quite a good living by retailing birds. We didn't know they needed it.

Bombing Planes and Tender Leave for Sitka

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP).—The United States Navy Department disclosed today six patrol planes and a tender have been sent to Sitka, Alaska, to "make weather and aerological observations" this winter.

A navy spokesman said the planes, long-range, twin-engine bombers, with a crew of five or six men each, probably would remain there all winter. With the mine sweeper Lapwing as their tender, the planes flew unannounced from Seattle.

with air travel at the present time. He is chairman of the Union Airways of New Zealand. His company was one of the first to realize the possibilities presented by the modern way of transportation, and in 1913 took the necessary steps to commence the operation of aircraft. Later the idea was incorporated as a part of Union Steamships. The air concern has been operating a domestic service for two years, and has twelve modern passenger planes at present in service, some British, some American. The air company is looking for an early hookup with Australia and represents Imperial Airways in the Southern Dominion. It was indicated that the New Zealand company would co-operate with Imperial Airways in pioneering the Pacific route.

In the future, Colonel Falla has visions of Imperial flying boats in regular service across the Pacific, either by way of Honolulu or along the great circle route across the North Pacific. "Imperial Airways will be flying to Australia shortly," he stated, "and we are expecting their survey ship to reach New Zealand some time in January next."

month and was witnessed by a number of people. The net cost to the Japanese was seven planes and two large holes in the Nipponese landing field located near the boundaries of Yantsepo. Naturally the Japanese tried to keep it secret.

According to the details, four Japanese planes with their navigation and cabin lights turned on were going into their field shortly after dusk on the evening of October 14. The pilot of the Chinese plane spotting the quartette in the air, turned on his cabin and navigation lights and joined the procession.

TOOK NO ACTION
Observers believed the Japanese flyers must have seen the Chinese plane, but thinking it was one of their own evidently, took no action. The Chinese flyer followed the group over the airfield, making all the pretences of landing after the leading four planes had settled on the ground, when he dropped two demolition bombs and zoomed away before the Japanese aviators had time to realize what had taken place.

The report of what had occurred was flashed to all the Japanese warships in the Shanghai area, with the result there was a terrific din of anti-aircraft guns shooting into the air at nothing; for the Chinese pilot had made good his getaway in the darkness before the guns went into action.

TOURISTS WILL REVISIT CITY

Californians Like Courtesy Of People and Scenery But Dislike Roads

Californians who visited Victoria during the summer months appreciated the courtesy of local residents, were attracted by the hanging baskets, liked the co-operation extended them by customs officers, disliked the roads, but in nearly all cases intend to return.

This was revealed yesterday, by another batch of questionnaires received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau from tourists visiting here during "the season."

"The only feature we could criticize was lack of accommodation while we were in Victoria," writes one enthusiast. Another declares: "The attitude of the people was exceptionally fine, but your high tariff on Cine-Kodak film was an added expense."

CITY OF SUNSHINE

"We found your city fully lived up to all the advertising as the City of Sunshine and Flowers," wrote an Alameda resident.

An Oakland visitor admits she was "not impressed by the roads," though she says: "Possibly we Californians are spoiled."

Another Alameda who visited the northern portion of the Island declares he made many friends at Nanaimo, and hopes to visit them again.

"Ferry rates seem all out of proportion to the distance traveled," complains a Cloverdale, Cal., resident. Another complaint was from Berkeley: "There was too much blatant advertising—the bagpipes and advertising at the docks were overdone."

"I would keep the whole atmosphere as English as possible," advises another visitor. Comments a San Franciscan: "We disliked the slow and inconvenient method of unloading the ferries."

LIKE BASKETS

From Oakland comes praise for the hanging baskets, described as "really beautiful," and for the customs officers and shop attendants, who were found to be "courteous and most helpful."

Craigflower Camp so intrigued a party from Livermore that they stayed three days instead of one as they intended, while another group of tourists came here, literally, because they heeded the admonition to "follow the birds."

"Your bird stickers always interested us," wrote one of them in the space for remarks on the questionnaire.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

HEART DISEASE THROUGHOUT VARIOUS PERIODS OF LIFE

There are more cases of heart disease in the first two decades of life (one to twenty years) than in the last two (eighty to 100 years). The reason for this is that in the first twenty years there are all the diseases of childhood to be fought by the heart—colds, sore throats, scarlet fever, measles, rheumatism, diphtheria—besides an inherited tendency to heart disease, whereas from seventy to 100 years of age all those with "weak" hearts are gone, and only the hearts that have weathered the strains of disease and of life itself remain.

These are indeed strong hearts. The greatest number of cases of heart disease occur in the fifth (forty to fifty), sixth and seventh decades of life. The heart, in the journey through life, is at all times subjected to the perils of disease. These perils vary in character and size according to the age of the individual. The heart that has escaped the ravages of disease and has withstood the stresses and strains of active life is one fundamentally endowed with superior qualities. This is proven by the fact that there is less heart disease in the closing periods of life, and, naturally, a lower death rate from heart disease.

HOTELMEN WILL VISIT VICTORIA

Delegates From Olympic Resort Association Coming Here January 19

Directors of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, who gathered in the committee room of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, authorized the bureau to be represented at the annual meeting of the Evergreen Playground Association by G. H. Stevens, president; David Leeming and George I. Warren, commissioners. The meeting will be held in Vancouver, November 27.

Mr. Warren also announced that members of the Olympic Hotel and Resort Association would make their sixth annual visit to the city on January 19, and while here inspect the St. Empress of Canada. He also reported on the meeting of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association in Spokane. The association has budgeted for $5,000, which will be used to finance two contact men during the season, who will direct tourists to Northwest resorts.

WILL AID ISLAND

Mr. Warren also gave a detailed report on the proposed activities of the Washington Service Commission. Here, a large appropriation will be used for advertising, various publications, the erection of welcome houses, and the marking of points of interest. It is anticipated that many of the visitors making their way to Washington will also come to Vancouver Island.

Letters to P. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, drawing attention to the fact that Eastern Canada had been featured, but that the Pacific Coast had been overlooked in various advertisements sponsored by the Bureau, were read by the commissioner.

The extension of Government interest to tourist development under the contemplated Department of Trade and Industry Act, was also the subject of a report by Mr. Warren.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

(Mr. Culbertson is conducting, through this column, a national examination by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer.)

Questions 25 and 26 of the national rating bridge examination appeared yesterday. They were:

Question 25—Both sides vulnerable. You are South. Your partner dealt and bid one no trump. Next hand passed. You hold:

♠ 10 8 5 4 ♥ 7 5 3 ♦ 6 ♣ A J 8 3

What call do you make?

Answer—You should bid two clubs. Your distribution (singleton diamond) is not advantageous at no trump. If partner now can bid either major suit your hand will warrant a raise in that suit, and definite hope of game. (One point demerit for passing. Two points demerit for any bid except two clubs.)

Question 26—Both sides vulnerable. You are South. The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North
1 NT Pass 2 NT Pass
3 NT Pass Pass Pass

Your holding is:

♠ Q J 10 8 4 ♥ A J 9 7 5 ♦ 5 3 ♣ 7

What card do you lead?

Answer—Your best lead is the spade queen. This is an attacking lead and, at the same time, a safe one. To lead away from your heart semi-tensor may be to present the declarer with the one trick needed for his contract. (One point demerit for fourth best heart lead. Two points demerit for a diamond or club lead.)

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question 27—You are East, defending against a four spade contract. West opened the diamond king. Dummy and your hand are as follows:

NORTH (dummy)
♠ K 3 2
♥ J 9 5 2
♦ A 6 3
♣ Q J 9

EAST
♠ 7 6 5 4
♥ Q 10
♦ J 5
♣ K 8 7 5 4

The diamond ace won the first trick, and the club queen is led. Do you, or do you not, cover?

TODAY'S HAND

Match point duplicate. South, dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

SOUTH
♠ A 10 6

♣ A K

THE BIDDING:

South West North East
2 NT Pass 4 ♥ Pass
3 ♦ Pass 5 ♥ Pass
4 NT Double Pass Pass

Pass

Obviously, South did some fancy bidding. He chose to open with two no trump rather than the correct bid of two diamonds, because his partner was weak in the play of the cards and if the final contract was to be no trump South wanted to "get there first." West's double was just one more instance of a foolish bid, much to lose by "placing cards," and little to gain.

The spade king was opened East following with the seven. Declarer won, cashed the ace and king of clubs, then crossed to the diamond queen and discarded a spade on the club queen. Declarer then rattled off the entire diamond suit.

Coming down to three cards, West did exactly as declarer had hoped he would do. Naturally, he had to guard the heart king, and this reduced him to one spade. To his everlasting shame, he kept the spade queen instead of a low spade. He was then thrown on lead with a spade and had to return a heart from his king.

I wish I had a dollar for every time this mistake is made. I grant, unequivocally, that West could not be sure about the location of the spade jack. But one thing he should have known; that was, that if he held on to the spade queen against this particular declarer, he certainly would be end-played. The right defence would have been to chuck the spade queen and pray that East, instead of declarer, held the jack.

TOMORROW'S HAND

Match point duplicate. South, dealer. Neither side duplicate.

Big Increase Shown in Horse Race Figures Throughout Canada

More Than $22,000,000 Bet in Dominion on Various Tracks During Season—Total Is $1,324,077 More Than Last Season

OTTAWA, Nov. 24 (P).—Race track betting in Canada this year totaled $22,775,787, an increase of $1,324,077 over 1936, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported today.

The year's record showed twenty-nine racing associations held thirty-seven meetings for a total of 302 days' racing, compared to twenty-eight associations, thirty-six meetings and 300 days' racing in 1936.

The largest amount wagered at a single meeting was the $1,474,037 at the Spring meeting at Woodbine Park, Toronto. Smallest was the $263 total wagered at a two-day meeting at Red Deer, Alta.

Prize money paid out during the year was $1,046,440, compared to $1,002,794 last year. Gate receipts increased from $66,190 in 1936 to $681,491 in 1937, but the department points out this takes into account passes or free admissions on "ladies' days."

Racing statistics by provinces follow, last year's figures in brackets:

Nova Scotia—Number of racing days, four; gate receipts, $2,339.75; amount wagered, $5,598; prize money, $1,290 ($1,500). Quebec—Number of days' racing, fifty-six; gate receipts, $43,450.40; amount wagered, $1,000,000 ($1,100,000); prize money, $141,400 ($119,800). Ontario—Number of days' racing, 109 (113); gate receipts, $69,823 ($334,400.50); amount wagered, $13,630,000 ($13,319,750); prize money, $632,995 ($528,800). $63,500.90 ($60,188.81); amount wagered, $2,153,351 ($2,025,655); prize money, $100,600 ($199,500). Saskatchewan—Number of days' racing, twelve; gate receipts, $12,202.90 ($16,044.95); amount wagered, $289,686 ($285,982); prize money, $21,850 ($21,750). Alberta—Number of racing days, thirty-seven; gate receipts, $41,984.95 ($41,170); amount wagered, $942,640 ($855,354); prize money, $61,350 ($60,330). British Columbia—Number of racing days, fifty-six; gate receipts, $78,279.14 ($83,158.74); amount wagered, $3,384,296 ($2,913,427); prize money, $166,995 ($171,314).

Racing statistics by cities with more than one track:

LIBERTY CAFE DEFEATS NAVY IN HOOP TILT

Chalks Up 48-28 Victory at High School—Fuelmen Beat Crescents

Running in thirty-two points in the second half when they displayed vastly superior marksmanship, Liberty Cafe hoopers last night defeated the Navy, 48-28, in a men's senior "B" case battle at the Victoria High School gymnasium. The score was deadlocked at 16-16 at the end of the first session, but in the final stanza the cafe men were the better aggregation.

Sailors set up a 5-0 lead in the early stages and looked as if they were going places, but once the Liberty Cafe boys found the hoop they soon pulled up to even terms. With the clubs fighting point for point for the greater part of the half, the session ended with the scoreboard reading: Navy 16, Liberty Cafe 16.

Cafe men moved into front soon after the resumption of play, with Bill Wallis putting thirteen of his nineteen points and his teammates tossing in a few for good measure. Navy fought gamely and cut the lead, but the Liberty Cafe boys pulled away again and finished with a twenty-point margin of victory. Geddes was the scoring star for the sailors, caging eighteen of their twenty-eight points.

GREAT TUSSELE
For real thrills and exciting moments, the Kingham-Gillespie-Wimp's Crescents intermediate "A" encounter stole the spotlight. Crescents, given little or no chance against the fuelmen, turned in a great performance and held the lead until four minutes from time. At this stage of the tussle, Doug Gent gave Kingham-Gillespie a two-point advantage at 26-24 and they won the struggle, 28-24.

Crescents jumped out in front at the start and, while their opponents managed to tie the score at 6-6 ten minutes through the first half, pulled away again and finished on the right end of a 14-9 score at the interval.

The count was knotted three times in the final session before Kingham-Gillespie, slightly taller and heavier than the Crescents, pulled away to a great triumph.

Benny Walker led the fuelmen's scoring brigade with eleven points, one more than Beere, high man for the Crescents.

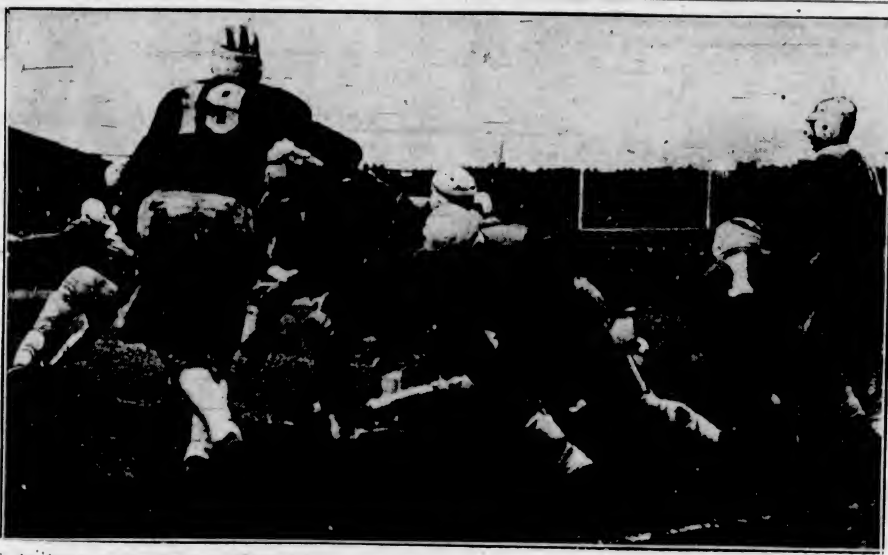

President Jack Taylor's Cardinals trounced Bob Whyte's Adverts, 40-11, in the curtain-raiser. Cards won a 12-0 lead in the first quarter and were never headed. Virginia Hall caged fourteen points for the winners and was high scorer.

Wally Stipe refereed, and the teams were:

Cardinals—P. Whyte (4), B. Crosby (4), E. Elston (4), A. Pedoe (10), V. Hall (14), M. Wells (4) and J. Trotter (6). Total, 46.

Western Hitting Toronto Varsity Goal Line

With the chances to enter the Inter-Collegiate final at stake, Varsity and Western fought it out on a slippery field at Toronto's Varsity Stadium on Saturday last. First blood went to Varsity when MacDonald threw a twenty-seven-yard forward pass to MacQuarrie for a touchdown. Plunging heavily against the blue team's line, the Mustangs tried to even up the count. The mix-up after a Western buck is shown, with the ball entirely out of view. The final score was 18-5 for Toronto Varsity.

GRID TEAMS ARE FACING HARD TESTS

Rose Bowl Aspirants to Play Today and Also on Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (P).—This is the big payoff week for inter-collegiate football's campaign of 1937 in the United States.

The double-barrelled climax, Thanksgiving Day and Saturday, is aimed primarily at the settlement of championship arguments in five major sections. The outcome also will have marked bearing on the lucrative post-season pairings, featuring the Rose and Sugar Bowl games to be played on New Year's Day.

The match between Alabama and Cornell and Pennsylvania will wind up the Western "Ivy" League season at Philadelphia before the biggest holiday crowd, expected to number 60,000 spectators. Colorado University's untied and unbeaten array, exploiting Byron (Whizzer) White, will face Denver's challenge in the climax game of the Rocky Mountain conference before an undisciplined gathering of 32,000 enthusiasts.

On Saturday the "bow" hopes of the East's two unbeaten powerhouses, Pittsburgh and Fordham, will be at stake in their final games. Pitt invades Duke's stronghold at Durham, N.C. Fordham tackles its metropolitan rival, New York University.

Only the service title will be involved when Army and Navy collide Saturday in Philadelphia's vast Municipal Stadium, but the season's biggest crowd will be on hand. The game has been a sellout for weeks, with 102,291 tickets sold at $4.40 each.

Vanderbilt at Nashville tomorrow carries the most significance. Not only is Southeastern conference leadership at stake, but the winner, if any, may have a choice of "bowl" invitations at its disposal. It's a "natural" that will draw capacity gallery of 21,650 fans.

Island Fanciers Will Stage Show Here December 4

OFFICIALS of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association announced after their meeting last night in the Colonist board room that a parlor show will be staged in the Crystal Garden on December 4. T. P. McConnell and W. C. Burns will act as judges. Group and cash prizes will be distributed, and there will be special classes for children under ten and fifteen years of age. Further particulars will be announced later by Secretary Mrs. Chris Bloomfield.

spectator benches around the big pool will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The presentation ceremony opens at 2:30, and it is essential that those children eligible for diplomas be in their places at 2 p.m. sharp. Relatives, friends and the general public is cordially invited, and a big attendance is confidently expected.

Arrangements are now complete for the big swimming gala, scheduled to be held at the Crystal Garden next Saturday. The main feature of the gala will be the presentation by Mayor Andrew McGavin of the handsome diplomas issued those children who pass the elementary "learn to swim" campaign.

Six hundred youngsters have participated in the free six-week course, sponsored by the morning newspaper, and few have failed to qualify in their tests. Those few, the majority of whom have been prevented from attending the classes regularly through sickness or other causes, will be given the opportunity of qualifying later. They have merely to satisfy the instructors of their ability to meet the requirements and they will be given a diploma.

In addition to the presentation of diplomas there will be a big water gala, with members of the Vancouver Island Swimming Association giving an exhibition of swimming and diving. Prominent local swimmers who are making their name in the aquatic sport will be featured. The list of performers include Gordon Lawrence, Len Stark, Don Davidson, Hazel Smith, Molly White, Rae Saunders and Bev Honor.

Through the courtesy of R. Raymond, Crystal Garden manager, the possible record for quick scoring—eight goals in slightly more than ten minutes—was marked up here tonight as Lethbridge Maple Leafs opened their four-game exhibition hockey tour of Saskatchewan with a 7-6 victory over the Saskatoon Quakers.

Hong said Victoria was being most prominently mentioned as an eighth league city, although no definite steps have been made toward organization of a club there.

League Secretary Nelson Hong said granting of a franchise to Mitchell would necessitate the expansion, since all six teams in the league this year are apparently ready to play again in 1938. Lewiston, which occupied the cellar all season, has straightened out most of its difficulties, Hong said, and expects to put a much stronger team on the field next year, with no likelihood the franchise held there will be shifted to another city.

SOUND CITY CAGERS COMING FOR TUSSLE WITH NICOL'S TEAM

Dan's Market Opposing Former Canadian Basketball Champions at High Gymnasium This Week—Locals After Seventh Straight Victory—Well-Known Players on Line-Up

Dan's Market, one of Seattle's ranking cage squads, will be here Saturday night to battle Dave Nicol's Victoria Dominions in the feature inter-city basketball clash on the two-game programme, carded at the High School gymnasium. Dominions opened the present campaign against the Sound City aggregation and came through with a comfortable victory, and therefore will be out to make it two in a row and at the same time chalk up their seventh successive triumph at the expense of invading squads.

With their scoring punch working to perfection, the Dominions will be favored to gain another victory, although, according to the visiting line-up, it will be a strong team of basketballyers facing the locals this week. On the Seattle squad will be such noted ball handlers as Jack Holstein, Huntley McPhee, Jack Hanover, Bill Dahke, Connie Henderson, Dave Carey and Ed Loverich.

The latter player and Hanover are graduates of the University of Washington Huskies, and when they come out of the Edmondson School of Basketball they are first-class players, no matter how you put it. Loverich played with the Huskies last year and was one of the spark-plugs in the university's offensive, while Hanover starred with the campus quintette a few seasons ago.

LOCALS SET
Manager Nicol will probably start "Chuck" Chapman and Willie "Moose" Rogin on the back division. On the front line will be Art Chapman at the pivot berth and Bert Davies and "Hank" Rowe on the wing positions. On the bench ready for reserve duty at a moment's notice will be Axel Kinnear, Austin Webster, Roy Taylor and Stan Jackson. To date the local machine has had the habit of running up a big lead in the early minutes and then the Dominions mentor usually rushes in his substitutes to take care of the situation until it gets a little warm, and then back come the regulars.

In the past three weeks the Dominions have taken the measure of Alpine Dairy and Heidelberg, two of the best organized teams in Seattle, and therefore hope to keep their inter-city record intact with a win over the market cagers.

The preliminary game will start at 8 o'clock and the main attraction will commence at 9:15 with Referee Tommy Macedo and Bob Macmurchie in charge.

On the bench ready for reserve duty at a moment's notice will be Axel Kinnear, Austin Webster, Roy Taylor and Stan Jackson. To date the local machine has had the habit of running up a big lead in the early minutes and then the Dominions mentor usually rushes in his substitutes to take care of the situation until it gets a little warm, and then back come the regulars.

In the past three weeks the Dominions have taken the measure of Alpine Dairy and Heidelberg, two of the best organized teams in Seattle, and therefore hope to keep their inter-city record intact with a win over the market cagers.

The preliminary game will start at 8 o'clock and the main attraction will commence at 9:15 with Referee Tommy Macedo and Bob Macmurchie in charge.

The latter player and Hanover are graduates of the University of Washington Huskies, and when they come out of the Edmondson School of Basketball they are first-class players, no matter how you put it. Loverich played with the Huskies last year and was one of the spark-plugs in the university's offensive, while Hanover starred with the campus quintette a few seasons ago

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

By Fred Neher

Jane Dixon Says:

TODAY WE HAVE MORE COMMENTS ON WHETHER WOMEN SHOULD BE PERMITTED TO HOLD JOBS

Protests continue to pour in against the woman job-holder. Quite a number of men, and some women, too, would abolish her entirely.

A less rigid lot concede that it is just for her to occupy a position when forced to do so by necessity.

Another faction proclaim woman's right to do the work she most likes, and for which she is best fitted, regardless of economic condition.

This column has no truck with the abolitionists. It understands and to a certain extent is in sympathy with the necessitists. It adheres, however, to the third or free school of thought which is that there is no sex in honest work, and that whoever is qualified to undertake a job, man or woman, should be permitted to do so without criticism or cavil from less apt or less fortunate fellows.

Miss Jane Dixon: All of us know there are many women who have been obliged to enter the business world. This class is beside the question.

What grinds us is that there are hundreds of girls all over the country who enter the business field to satisfy their vanity. They spend all they earn in an effort to attract attention to themselves.

These young things well could be replaced by young men who need positions for actual living, for contribution to family upkeep, for foundations of homes. Don't be too hard on men who show a trace of resentment.—A Visitor.

Comment: Well spoken, Visitor. Your point has abundant merit, and your opinion is held by a vast number of first-line economists and humanitarians. Surely bread and bed comes before a new hat and the latest in lipsticks.

However, where effort for industrial, creative, artistic work is concerned, erection of barriers on any basis is unjust and likely to prove dangerous. Physical conformation should have nothing to do with a worker's right to work.

Jane Dixon: The man who has lost his job could find one if it wasn't for another man's wife working side by side with men wrecking another woman's husband. Let her go home and be a real home woman. There are few enough of them today. In days gone by women did not mind sacrifice. No real man wants his wife to hold a job. Ask him. He'll say no!—Gretchen.

Comment: You assume, Gretchen, that you know all the real men in the world whereas you know only a parcel of them. Lots of us job-holding wives are married to men as real as they make 'em, and our husbands not only like our work, but are proud of it. There is sacrifice to be made, yes, but it would be made by the wife of the man who, because of unequal ability or misfortune, has lost his job.

How It Started
New Jersey—CAESAR'S ISLAND

New Jersey and Scheyichile, these are the names by which New Jersey was originally known, the latter being Indian. New Jersey was so-called in 1664.

COMBAT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurity should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pains. Plan to help prevent rheumatism by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—the half a century the favorite kidney remedy.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

after the Island of Jersey, of which Sir George Carteret, one of the Proprietors named in the grant to the newly established province, was a native, an enthusiastic advocate and Governor.

What's in a name or rather, what's in this name? According to philologists, Jersey is a corruption of Caesars, which came about in this way.

Over a thousand years ago, England was overwhelmed by northern nations in whose tongue the suffix 'ey' as in Jersey, denoted 'island' and 'jer' was a contraction of Caesar. Jersey, therefore, stood for Caesar's Island.

'New' is rooted in the Sanskrit 'navas', not existing before.

ALL MUDDLED UP

Cross-Examiner—Lawyer: Now, you still maintain that the prisoner is the man you saw stealing your cycle?

Plaintiff: After arguing with you for half an hour, I don't believe I ever had a cycle.
